Make Pollution Test at Anjopa

State and county officials were making an inspection today at the Anjopa Paper Manufacturing Co., Inc., Napanoch, to determine progress made, to date, with installation of a reclaimer unit to prevent pollution of the Rondout Creek.

The state had ordered action by the mill to prevent pollution more than a year ago, and last August, when the state threatened legal action, the plant's management announced that it would have the reclaimer unit installed by Nov. 25.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, Ulster County Health Department, and a representative of the State Water Pollution Control Board, began their inspection of the plant today.

The mill's management indicated in August that the equipment had not been installed when the state first issued its order, because of financial difficulties. The reclaimer was to have been shipped from a plant at Stillwater, which is not operating.

Reports of irregularities at the Ellenville bank for which William R. Rose was arrested several months ago, indicated that the Anjopa company was a heavy borrower at the bank.

Renew Interest in Single Water System for City, Nearby Towns

Says Plan Outmoded, Costly

Dewey Opposes State Constitution Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey came out today against the proposal to hold a state constitutional convention.

He said in a statement that he is going to vote "No" at next Tuesday's election on the ballot's question No. 1 which calls for a convention to revise the constitution.

"This convention would cost at least five million dollars," the ex-governor said. "It is an outmoded, unwieldy instrument and would be a waste of the people's money."

Dewey also said:

"There is a good way to streamline the constitution, and it ought to be done.

"The present Rockefeller Commission on the Constitution was created by law and its members serve by appointment of the governor and the Legislature. This commission should undertake to revise the constitution with the aid of scholars, lawyers and bar associations of the state, thoughtfully, carefully and free of pressure, article by article. It will never be done any other way."

Dewey said of the convention idea:

"This gathering in the steaming atmosphere of Albany in July and August to 'deliberate' on our basic law will be a magnet drawing every hungry pressure group, lobbyist and crackpot to the trail of every delegate in the hope of getting their own private amendments into the constitution."

Dewey, now in private law practice, was one of seven state Republicans named as the "silent seven" by Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast on Oct. 23. He is the second of the seven to voice his sentiments. Former GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall also said he saw no reason for the convention. Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said he believed he should voice no preference in view of what he said was his position as an interpreter of the constitution. The remaining four Prendergast named as the "silent seven" are Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Sen. Irving M. Ives, Frank Moore and Nelson Rockefeller.

The convention issue was argued by Republican and Democratic speakers in various parts of the state last night.

Gutman Sees GOP Fears

Gov. Harriman's counsel, Daniel Gutman, said in Amsterdam that GOP leaders oppose a convention because they are "living in a state of terrible fear." Gutman said they fear that a "vote of rebuke" would be administered to them by the people in 1958.

Gutman accused the Republicans of deliberate distortions "to divert the attention of the citizens from the fact that once in 20 years the constitution should be re-examined, obsolete features removed and processes adopted that are in line with the advances of the age."

Gutman did not mention proposed reapportionment of seats in the Legislature—controlled by the Republicans—which is one of the leading issues in the argument over a convention.

State Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, Republican leader of the upper house, said in Oneida that the Democrats seek to reapportion the Legislature in a way that would leave 18 upstate counties without a resident assemblyman.

He said the Democrats, in seeking reapportionment, want a convention "because they see in it an opportunity to extend Tammany's tentacles throughout the state."

P-TA Group Will Tour Schools to Study Conditions

Delegates of the Kingston P-TA Council will make a tour of all Kingston school buildings Monday night, Nov. 18, in order to acquaint themselves with actual school conditions.

This was reported today by Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president of the Kingston P-TA, who said that the tour was planned following this week's meeting of the Council when the group further discussed the causes of the failure of the recent junior high bond issue when it went before local voters.

Some of the causes summarized at the meeting were:

Financial causes, poor communications and voter protests.

In an attempt to develop constructive recommendations the Council agreed to make the school tour, continue the discussion at the regular meeting on Nov. 25 and to appear before the Kingston Board of Education with these recommendations at a later date. The recommendations will be communicated to the board of education as an indication of public sentiment concerning school needs.

Arrangements for the school tour are being made with the assistance of Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools. Non-Council members are invited to participate in the tour and may secure information concerning detailed plans by contacting their local P-TA officers or the superintendent of schools.

Taking part in the recent panel discussion were Walter Donnaruma, Benjamin Schecter, David Byrne and Charles Ellis. Moderator was Keron O'Neil.

State Flu Toll At 150 Figure

ALBANY (AP)—The death of a 15-year-old boy pushed to 150 today the state toll since mid-July as a result of flu or flu-like illness.

Gerald T. Hull of Canajoharie died yesterday in Johnstown Hospital of flu-like illness, the hospital reported today.

Four deaths in New York City and one Upstate were reported yesterday.

Most of the deaths have occurred this month. However, reports from most areas of the state seemed to indicate that flu was on the decline.

Fingerprints Are Checked in Theft At Saugerties

A complete set of fingerprints found on a showcase in Beck's Jewelry Store at Saugerties are being checked out for a possible lead in Tuesday night's burglary, it was reported today.

Approximately $2,500 or $3,000 in rings and wristwatches, two checks and a small amount of cash were taken.

The fingerprints, found on top of the showcase, are not those of Robert M. Beckwith, 121 Cedar Street, Kingston, manager of the store, or of Mrs. Beckwith, it was disclosed.

Prints Go to FBI

Chief Arthur Richter of the Saugerties Police Department said today that the prints had been sent to Washington, D. C., for examination by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. No report is anticipated for at least 48 hours.

Beckwith told The Freeman this morning that the prints indicated that the person was standing behind the showcase like a clerk. No other persons work in the store, however, except Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith.

Only $85 in Safe

Beckwith asked The Freeman today to correct a report in Wednesday's account of the burglary that $450 in cash had been removed from the safe. He said the amount was only $85. The $450 figure came to The Freeman from another source.

Beckwith said that locks and doors on two showcases inside the store had been broken off and that the lock on the front door had been tampered with and was "out of position" when he opened the store at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

Surmise Key Used

Chief Richter said there were four former owners of the safe in Beck's Jewelry Store. They are being questioned for possible leads in the case.

The chief reported that entrance to the store was apparently made with a key. There are only two keys to the front door, so far as is known. Beckwith has one. His wife has the other one in a chest at home.

Chief Richter said also that Beckwith alone had the com-

Propose Rondout, Wallkill Dams

Control at Source Seen Flood Answer

Establishment of dams and reservoirs at the source of tributaries of the Rondout Creek and Wallkill River, a proposition which has recently received substantial consideration by the Ulster County Flood Control Committee, was one of the propositions discussed at a recent meeting of the Rosendale Area Flood Control Committee.

Control of tributaries to the Rondout and Wallkill by this method would be of vast value in control of floods in the lower reaches of the two streams.

Review Action

At the meeting of the Rosendale committee, held at Villa Bianco in Rosendale last week, the accomplishments of the committee since its inception two years ago were reviewed. The committee was formed at the time of the last two disastrous floods, as an ememgency measure. It then represented, and continues to represent citizens and residents of the Rosendale area and is made up of residents of that area who are interested in making the Rosendale area a safer, more prosperous and attractive community.

During the past two years the committee has worked not only on stop-gap emergency relief of the mutual problem, but has been striving for permanent control with a look to the future.

Must Continue

At the meeting it was stressed that while the citizens of Rosendale wish to forget the flood problem, the objective of the committee must be kept alive.

Through the efforts of the local committee and with the cooperation of Federal, State and local government agencies and officials, the Rosendale area has benefitted from flood control work.

Important Objective

One of the important objectives stressed at the meeting was the need for the people of Rosendale and the members of the committee to work for permanent flood control. Even while the county of Ulster is faced with the disaster of drought at the moment, the committee reviewed past efforts and made plans for future control of floods in the area.

Among those attending the meeting were Henry Mollenhauer, George Mollenhauer, Herb Kimker, William P. Curran, Fred Pflum, Joseph Reid and Joseph Bianco.

Halloween March Starts at 6:55, To Hold Dance

Four musical units will participate in the march scheduled to start from Academy Green at 6:55 p. m., proceed down Broadway to Delaware Avenue, back to the Municipal Auditorium for costume contests and dancing.

The dance for teenagers and adults is a new feature this year, Murphy said, with music by Johnny Michaels and his orchestra.

Expansion Calls For Real Study

Renewed interest in a proposed area consolidation of water facilities was indicated today as Kingston moved to solve its water shortage problem by tapping the lower basin of New York City's Ashokan Reservoir.

William S. Keyser, Second ward alderman, who a year ago last month proposed a study to determine the advantages of water supply consolidation, said today that he would renew his request in the near future.

Important Factor

Keyser's suggestion was in line with one made last year by State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson, who had suggested at a mayors' conference in New York, that consolidation of municipal water supply systems by cities and towns with common economic interests can be an important factor in the location of industries.

It was also noted at the time that cities, their suburban areas and neighboring towns, can gain in many other ways by having a central water supply system.

Keyser Asks Action

Interested legislators and others also feel now that the consolidation proposal should be studied because of the many housing developments in the county, especially in the Kingston, Saugerties, Town of Ulster, Rosendale and Town of Esopus areas.

Keyser, Republican candidate for alderman-at-large in Kingston, said today that he felt the proposal should be given full study as soon as possible.

A state law exists permitting such consolidation and it permits formation of a countywide water authority, and such action has been taken in upstate areas.

The state, by law, also permits an existing agency to make studies of water supply problems on a countywide basis. In Ulster County, the agency would probably be the county health department.

The Kingston Board of Water Commissioners, is not empowered on its own to authorize such a body, but the Board of Supervisors could act on a proposal to study the merits of consolidation in mutually interested communities or townships.

Pointed to Industry Needs

Alderman Keyser, in his proposal last year, also emphasized future industrial water needs in the area.

Commissioner Dickinson also noted last year that "Industrial uses of water today have multiplied to the point where there are very few items, which, at some point in their manufacture, have not been treated in some way with water."

As an example, he noted that "more than 100,000 gallons of water are required to produce an airplane engine; about 75,000 gallons are needed to make a ton of paper pulp, and nearly 300,000 gallons are needed to produce a ton of rayon."

Water consolidation, it has been indicated, could cover an

Pledges Now Reach 75 Per Cent of Goal

A total of $89,474 in pledges were reported at a meeting of Red Feather workers Wednesday night at the Jewish Community Center.

This is approximately 75 per cent of the goal of $118,500 sought by the Kingston Area Community Chest for its 10 member agencies.

The drive will continue to permit completion of work in neighborhood and several other areas where solicitation has been delayed by illness.

Executive director John R. Warren said today that solicitation in the towns of Ulster and Hurley would begin this weekend. Those areas are in process of organization.

Warren said that a number of reports remain to be made. Last night the following ward reports were submitted by representatives of the neighborhood division of the drive: Ward 1, $368; Ward 2, $284; Ward 9, $212; Ward 10, $323 Ward 11, $191, and Ward 12, $1,219.

There are sufficient reports still in the hands of workers in all divisions to reach the goal, Warren said.

The wards which reported last night also expect additional returns.

A breakdown of total pledges to date:

Advanced gift, $15,865; industry, $52,101; commercial $12,320; professional, $4,996; government, $210; schools, $1,374, and neighborhood, $2,605.

Contradicts Albany Story

Thayer Not Asking Any Interview With Reuter

An Ellenville trustee flatly denied today that he told the Albany Times-Union a certain Kingston oil company had offered him a cent-a-gallon kickback if he would throw the village's road oil contract to the firm.

The trustee, Harry Thayer (D) also denied that he told a Times-Union reporter he would seek an appointment with State Commissioner of Investigations Arthur L. Reuter in connection with the alleged bribe attempt.

Reuter and a staff of six men have established headquarters at the state armory on Manor Avenue, Kingston, for a "preliminary investigation" of police corruption in this city. The probe was ordered by Gov. Harriman several weeks ago after a group of local citizens presented him with petitions requesting such an investigation.

Not Even in County

Thayer told The Freeman today that he had spoken Wednesday with John Douglas, staff writer for The Times-Union, that he told the reporter he had been offered a kickback by a certain oil company but that he did not say the firm was from Kingston.

"It is definitely not a Kingston oil company," Thayer told The Freeman this morning. "It's not even in the county."

Throws Him Out

He said that when the offer was made he "threw them out of his office."

The Times-Union account, carried on Page 1 today, was described by Thayer as "very inaccurate." Thayer said he was angry and disturbed by its misstatement.

Thayer said the Times-Union man asked him if he thought there was any "graft" in Ulster County and he said, Yes, he did think so and would welcome an investigation.

No Reuter Comment

When asked about the Times-Union report that a trustee of the village of Ellenville would seek an appointment with him, Reuter replied, "No comment." He implied, however, that no

Ballots Sent Out For Directors of Kingston C of C

Nominating ballots for the election of directors are being mailed today to all active members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce by the tellers of election.

As provided in the Chamber by-laws, revised at the annual business meeting last spring, a special nominating committee drafted a list of 40 recommended candidates for the office of director. The letter included a ballot listing the forty candidates and seven blank spaces in which any member may write in the names of additional nominees if they so desire.

10-Room Mt. Marion School Opens to 310 Pupils Monday

The new 10-room Mt. Marion Elementary School of Saugerties Central School District will be fully occupied by 310 pupils Monday morning, it was announced today by Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of Saugerties Schools.

The 21 districts in the Township of Saugerties that were centralized over two years ago will see one of the outstanding and positive evidences of their efforts come to fruition when the Mt. Marion building opens to receive its full quota of pupils, he said.

Two Rooms Open

Kindergarten and first grade classes have been in session since September 4. While waiting completion of the other rooms, pupils have been attending other area schools in the centralized districts.

Although the building is not yet complete, the classrooms are ready for occupancy and pupils will begin classes next week. These pupils are drawn largely from the districts of Mount Marion, Churchland, Veteran, High Woods, Daisy, Pine Grove and Fish Creek.

Not all of the pupils from the districts listed here will be in attendance at Mount Marion, however, some will be in attendance at the Main Street School, and a few others at the Glasco School. The reason for this is that the number of pupils varies from grade to grade, and if all pupils from a given area are accommodated in one location, there would be unreasonable overcrowding in some places, Dr. Morse said.

A total of 1,391 grade pupils will be housed as follows: 465

Record 6,363,000 Off-Year Votors Are Eligible to Ballot in State Tuesday

ALBANY (AP) — Approximately 6,363,000 New Yorkers, a record for an off-year election, have registered for the statewide balloting next Tuesday, an Associated Press survey showed today.

The figure, unofficial and certain to be swelled by absentee and servicemen's ballots, is still well below the number who registered for presidential elections dating back to 1940.

An all-time high of 7,841,613 signed up in the state in 1952 when Dwight D. Eisenhower faced Adlai E. Stevenson for president the first time. A second-high total of 7,715,154 registered for their rematch in 1956.

In those years, there was less than one per cent difference between the number registerd and th total vote cast.

Bingo, the question of a constitutional convention and mayoral or council-manager elections in 51 of New York's 62 cities have touched off some sparks this year. But the drama of a presidential contest is lacking to draw voters to the polls.

Past statistics show the fall-off between registration and the actual vote can range around 15 per cent in an off year.

This is also the first year of permanent personal registration in many cities. Voters were interested in getting their names on the books. Some are sure to ignore the polling places Nov. 5.

In 1953, when most of the big cities last elected mayors, 6,125,070 registered. Only 5,306,070 signed up in 1955, the last off-year.

Only Erie County and heavily Democratic Albany County, among the big boys, are down in registration from those years.

There are 399,505 registered in Erie, which includes Buffalo, the state's second largest city. The figure in down 15,874 from 1955 and 20,790 from comparable 1953, when a mayor was up for election in Buffalo.

Albany, as in 1953, is also electing a mayor. Registration is 147,559, down 1,363 from four years ago and down 300 from 1955.

New York City, in which 2,450,107 signed in the first year of PPR, is nearly a million ahead of 1955 but up only 53,249 from 1953 when Democrat Robert F. Wagner was elected mayor. Wagner is seeking re-election this year against the GOP's Robert K. Christenberry.

Registration in heavily Republican Nassau, Suffolk and Westches-

New Saugerties Schools Will Not Create Surplus

Residents of Saugerties might be inclined to think that when the new junior-senior high school is complete next year, that there would be a surplus of classrooms in the new central system. A study of present and future enrollments reveals that this is not so, according to Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of Saugerties Schools.

Opens Monday

He pointed out that when the new Mt. Marion building opens next Monday, all classrooms in the central schools system will be well filled, except one vacant room in Mount Marion. At the same time, it should be remembered that a large number of pupils in the system are currently housed in sub-standard quarters. These include five rooms of pupils in the former St. Mary's building; three classes of kindergartens on a shortened schedule housed in the basement of the public library; six groups of area children housed in the Seamon building an old house adjacent to the Main Street building; all art classes are housed in the Seamon house garage; all industrial arts classes are housed in an old CCC building; all homemaking classes are taught in a rented house on Washington Avenue; a group of children is housed in a classroom in the basement of the Main Street building. Every inch of space on the fourth floor of the Main Street building is used for classrooms, the high school library and science rooms, Dr. Morse said.

When the new junior senior high school building, which has been planned to house 1,000 pupils, is opened sometime next year, nearly that number will be in attendance. There are in excess of 800 in the junior-senior high school at the present time.

Repairs Slated

Following the completion of the new high school building, the bond issue which was passed over two years ago calls for the expenditure of approximately $164,000 on the alteration and repair of the Main Street building. The State Department of Education will not approve the use of the fourth floor for elementary classrooms. This will leave 21 classrooms available for use in the Main Street building. Figures previously published in these columns showed that after both the Mount Marion and new high school buildings are open there will be space for approximately 125 additional pupils, only provided there is no increase or decrease in enrollment between now and those dates.

The census completed in August reveals that there will be approximately 133 more pupils in attendance in the Saugerties Central Schools next fall than are now attending.

Whale Differences

Sperm and killer whales are toothed whales and feed on fish and squids; baleen whales do not have teeth and feed on the tiny curstaceans which they strain throuhg the whalebone.

Teamsters Confer On Suspension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union chiefs gathered today to decide a course in view of the AFL-CIO suspension order and clean-up ultimatum plus the continuing court challenge to Teamsters leadership.

There was no advance indication of what Teamsters president elect James R. Hoffa and his union's executive board might do in face of the union's mounting problems.

May Call New Parley

But there were reports consideration was being given to calling a new union convention to combat the opposition to Hoffa and the circumstances of his election earlier this month as successor to retiring Teamsters president Dave Beck.

Teamsters attorneys prepared to go before the U. S. court of appeals in an effort to upset the injunction by which Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts has prevented the 44-year-old Hoffa from taking over the Teamsters' helm.

Letts found that Hoffa and other Teamsters bosses had promoted or tolerated the seating of improperly chosen delegates at the recent Teamsters convention at Miami Beach, Fla., to assure the election of Hoffa.

Teamsters attorneys argued in their appeal that Judge Letts had been motivated by bias and prejudice, and asked that the injunction be wiped out.

Attorneys for a 13-man group of rank-and-file New York Teamsters members, in an answer filed late yesterday, said the bias charges against Letts were unjustified.

Admit Violation

Meanwhile leaders of the dissidents said in New York yesterday that union members all over the country are signing petitions saying they know of their own knowledge that convention delegates were chosen in violation of the union's constitution.

John Cunningham, chairman of the group, declined to give the total number of signers, but said members of 400 of the union's 891 locals already are represented. He said signers include 65 members of Hoffa's own local in Detroit.

Whatever the appeals court may decide about the injunction, an original lawsuit challenging legality of Hoffa's election and other teamsters convention proceedings still must be tried before Judge Letts. He is due to set a trial date next Monday.

Also next Monday, Hoffa is scheduled to go to trial in New York on a federal court indictment charging perjury before a grand jury in connection with an investigation of wiretap conspiracy charges on which Hoffa also was indicted.

Interest Renewed

area from Saugerties through to the Town of Esopus. It could take in the towns of Ulster and Hurley, and along with the city, the many neighboring areas recently developed. It has also been suggested that water from the Esopus and Plattekill creeks could be used.

Unofficial studies have been made, it was learned today, and these have indicated that consolidation of facilities to accommodate Kingston and surrounding areas would require a system to supply 20,000,000 gallons of water a day.

State Systems Grow

The nation's industrial water consumption, Commissioner Dickinson said last year averaged about 80 billion gallons a day, with New York industries accounting for 8 to 10 billion gallons.

The state's public water supply systems have grown enormously, he said. Last year the state had 876 systems, serving 1,325 communities with a population of 14,000,000.

However, Dickinson said, "while some communities have created water supplies sufficient for the future, others are feeling the pinch."

Partially Insured

The thief or thieves removed the cash and two small checks (one for $16, the other for $4.50) from the safe and then closed it again, Richter said.

Beckwith said yesterday that he was partially insured against the loss which consisted of about 50 wristwatches—for both men and women—and about 16 "sets" of rings (engagement rings and wedding bands.)

'Not Local Job'

Beck's was insured by a Kingston firm, it is reported. Investigators from the main office in New York City are expected on the scene to conduct their own investigation.

Chief Richter said it was the general feeling that the burglary was "not a local job." He did not elaborate.

Beckwith told police that he locked the safe and the front door of the store, located at 80 Partition Street, as he was leaving about 5:30 p. m. Tuesday. He discovered the burglary when he arrived at the store about 8 a. m. the following morning.

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Mrs. Delia Savage, 58, was sentenced to three years yesterday for shoplifting a stove.

Knit One

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A small, elderly woman brought a prisoner into police headquarters the other day—at needlepoint. She told Patrolman Howard Smith she had been sitting on her porch sewing when the man, a neighbor, began creating a disturbance and using foul language. So she used the weapon at hand.

LIGHTNING RESPONSE—The detonation of a depth charge in a remote area of Chesapeake Bay caused lightning from a low cloud to discharge into the 300-foot waterspout heaved upward by the explosion. The charge had been placed underwater beneath a cloudless sky, explained the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Md., but overcast had built up two hours later when the explosion took place. One of three consecutive bolts that struck the spout was caught in this shot by a high-speed camera.

'Rur-urbanization' Plans Grange Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Grange is calling for planning programs for the urbanization of rural areas, a process which it refers to as "rur-urbanization."

Roy Battles, assistant to the master of the farm organization, said today this process often means a "hodge-podge of string-towns along highways leading to metropolitan areas.

"First comes a few houses, then more, and finally stores and gas stations. This often fragmentizes adjacent farm lands, often leading to rural slums and requiring costly and inefficient, strung-out utility and other facility installations."

Battles said a major problem in this development is the cost of public services.

"Who will pay for them? Will the newcomer pay his fair share of the cost of new roads, parks, schools, playgrounds, sewage and water installations, police and fire protection, or will existing property owners pay the lion's share?"

Murderer Paroled

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—The State Parole Board today announced parole of murderer Leonard Dubee of Glens Falls, N. Y. Dubee, 46, served 17 years of a life sentence for the premeditated murder of Robert Schween in 1939 at Swartswood, Sussex County.

He told authorities he went to a cottage there to try to get back his common-law wife, Yvonne. Schween interfered, Dubee said, and so he took a pistol and shot him.

Man Nearer Mystery About Life on Numerous Planets

(Editor's note—Man has always been fascinated by the possibility that life exists elsewhere in the universe. A leading astronomer says 100 million planets could support life. Now, with the opening of the space age, are we on the verge of finding out? This is the third of four articles).

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Are we the only humans living in this vast universe of ours?

Or are there people like us, or even superior, on other planets?

Only by exploring space can man begin to answer this question nagging him nearly since his time began.

Not Alone, He Says

"We are not alone," declares Dr. Harlow Shapley, famous Harvard astronomer. He estimates there could be 100 million planets capable of supporting life as we know it.

There are billions upon billions of stars or suns in the universe. Even supposing that most have no planets at all, there still could be 100 million planets situated at the right distance from a sun, possessing oxygen and all other conditions for our kind of life, Shapley reasons.

Very likely human astronauts will never be able to visit much more than the other planets of our sun—Mars, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn and others.

Men could learn whether there is life, even fantastically different forms of life, on these planets—some arid, some terribly hot or cold, some bathed in poisonous fumes.

Seems Impossible

But reaching even the nearest star, to see if it has planets at all, seems impossibly beyond man's dreams.

This star is Alpha Centauri. It is so far away that it takes four years and four months for its light to reach us, and light travels 186,000 miles per second.

Yet the chances of learning about life elsewhere are not entirely hopeless.

Giant observatories on space platforms, or on the moon, could look clearly and accurately vast distances into space.

Both American and Russian scientists are talking of putting telescopes in the sky. They could take pictures, or use TV eyes.

New Frontiers

Space opens vast new frontiers for good or bad, depending on how nations use the new potentials and powers.

A space station hung some 23,000 miles above the earth could provide instantaneous television for half the world at a time.

Satellites at chosen heights could survey the world with telescopic and TV eyes, or radar, prying into any country's secrets. Military men see them also as potential bases for launching guided missiles with atomic warheads to impose the will of the sky-master nation.

Prof. Hermann Oberth of Germany, a famous space pioneer, proposes a giant mirror, composed of many facets, above the earth. It might be 60 miles in diameter, focusing the sun's rays upon the earth, as you do with a magnifying glass.

Good and Bad

For bad, it could be aimed to burn an enemy's country, Obert says.

For good, part of the mirror could be used safely to light large towns at night, or to melt dangerous Atlantic icebergs, open up winter frozen sea lanes, counteract night frosts threatening fruit crops, even perhaps alter temperatures and cloud movements to bring rain where needed.

Far more immediately new knowledge is promised for accurate weather forecasts, for preventing hurricanes and even tornadoes.

Such new information is one goal of baby U. S. moons to be launched during the International Geophysical Year.

Baby moons are just a beginning.

Who knows but one day, with the earth exhausting its own natural resources under hungers of growing population, men may go mining materials from other planets? Or start human colonies there if disaster overtakes our own earth?

Tomorrow: some practicalities and expectations.

More Parole Firings In Socks Lanza Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Division of Parole has announced the suspension of two more parole officers who testified in the Joseph (Socks) Lanza parole violation probe.

The agency yesterday announced the suspensions of John Clark, who was Lanza's parole officer, and Frank Lawrence, one of the officers who took Lanza into custody last February as a parole violator.

The suspended officers will be given closed hearings on charges of violating division rules and regulations. A parole division spokesman said "No elaboration of charges will be released until final disposition is made."

No date was set for the hearings.

DEFENSE AND POLITICS

No one can keep out the political arena the big question whether this country has skimped on defense to promote budget economy.

Democrats say the Republican administration has pared defense outlays dangerously. They note outlays this year of 38 billion dollars against the 43.7 billion in 1953, last fiscal year involving a Democratic regime. They say the present 1.7 billion dollars for research and development is inadequate, and argue the same about the 198 million spent in three years on our satellite.

The Republicans deny making perilous cuts. They say with missile programs the need is not for more money, but for scientific breakthroughs that have been slow in coming.

As for the satellite, they say it never got high priority because it was not a "defense instrument."

The Republicans go on to contend that any delays on missiles can be ascribed to previous Democratic regimes, which they charge with doing little in this field during the critical post-World War II years.

To this particular complaint the Democrats respond with the statement they were busy managing the Korean war and there were no funds to spare for missile development.

On the general subject of defense spending, the record suggests both parties are vulnerable. Both have contributed heavily to the economy atmosphere which has hung over Congress in recent sessions. Mr. Eisenhower's 1957-58 budget drew attack from leading Republicans and Democrats alike.

It is somewhat misleading, too, to compare the 1953 budget with later ones. Fiscal 1953 covered the final phase of the Korean war, and cutbacks from the 43.7-billion-dollar level would have been expected no matter which party held power.

But, however generally the blame can fairly be assigned for broad budget economies, it would seem that the Republicans cannot escape all responsibility for the way the available funds were allocated and spent.

The administration has made many key decisions. Plainly it misjudged the propaganda impact of our losing the satellite race. It could have made other mistakes respecting both the missile and satellite programs.

This does not mean that the Democrats necessarily come off better. Despite what they say about bearing down on the Korean war, they could be at fault for not having given fuller attention to missile and satellite work before 1953.

The final returns are not in on responsibility for our failures. But the evidence marshaled up to now doesn't give either side much to crow about.

With adult education booming throughout the country, many husbands and wives attend classes together. No doubt they occasionally have a hard time hiding their report cards from the children.

A 'TREND'—NO MATTER WHAT

In New Jersey this year we will witness the one election with any likely bearing upon the national scene. This is the governorship race between the incumbent Democrat, Gov. Robert B. Meyner, and his energetic challenger, Malcolm S. Frobes.

It is not that New Jersey is stirring with issues of national significance. Issues, indeed, are hard to find in that rather small but populous state. There is slender evidence that the voters are aroused about anything the two candidates are discussing.

But, inevitably, if Meyner wins he will be touted for 1960 as a Democratic presidential hopeful. His record to date is largely unblemished, he has television looks, and he has a lovely wife who would be a political asset in any state from Maine to California.

And whichever party wins, it is bound to claim the result indicates a significant trend for 1958 and beyond. It does not matter whether this is true or not. It will be said in New Jersey in 1957 as it is always said everywhere of special and off-year elections.

In an era when even the tiny tots know all about earth satellites it seems a bit strange to find horse operas still dominating television.

'These Days'

ZHUKOV

Under the Soviet system of Democratic Centralism, which is how the Russians describe their government, it is impossible to have a dual leadership. This was evident when Trotzky and Stalin were vying for the top leadership; it appeared in the various efforts of Zinoviev and Kamenev to match Stalin's authority; it reappeared when Stalin died and Malenkov and Khrushchev contested for authority; and when Zhukov asserted a position of dual leadership, he too failed. Whoever heads the Russian Communist Party is the head of the Russian state and of the Communist Party throughout the world. That man is Nikita Khrushchev.

When an effort was made in the United States to give the impression that Marshal Zhukov was really the top man and would replace Khrushchev and was factually the more important man, it gave convincing evidence that those in high places in the American government did not at all understand Russia, and that therefore the situation between the two countries is hopeless.

If the State Department and the C.I.A. preferred Zhukov to Khrushchev, they based their judgment on misinformation or on correct information incorrectly evaluated. Only those in control of the Communist Party control Soviet Russia.

There are 40 years of knowledge and experience in our relations with Soviet Russia and that is long enough for mature men to recognize a pattern of activities and attitudes which is clear-cut and understandable. What the Russians have is a government which is held in tutelage by a political party and the party itself is controlled by the Presidium of the party which is itself controlled by one man, that one man now being Nikita Khruschev. Each people develops a government according to its own character and traditions.

The fear of Napoleonism is very strong among the Communists. Whether it affects the younger people, I do not know. But it was this fear that destroyed the career of Leon Trotzky, who organized the Red Army and who at one period of the revolution was its most attractive figure, even more attractive personally than Lenin. Nevertheless, Trotzky was destroyed politically by a crude, unattractive personality, Stalin. It might be said that one reason for Trotzky's failure was that he was of Jewish origin, although as a Marxist Social Democrat he practised no religion. I think that that explanation is far-fatched; surely, in the early years of the Revolution there were no evidences of anti-Semitism. That came later when Stalin needed it for his own purposes.

It was the fear of Napoleonism that broke Trotzky. Napoleonism means the conquest of a revolution by a military dictatorship. It was the fear of Napoleonism that made it possible for Stalin to reduce Zhukov immediately after World War II in which Zhukov played a role which the Russians have regarded as equal to Eisenhower's. We made a popular hero of Eisenhower; Stalin sent Zhukov to the sticks.

Whether that is Khrushchev's intention or whether he means to keep Zhukov in Moscow, we shall not know until the Tass Agency issues a cold statement announcing what has happened. It could be that Khrushchev will make Zhukov the head of a company making electric razors which happened to General Douglas MacArthur, or the principal of a school which happened to General Mark Clark or a manufacturer of tin cans which is what became of General Lucius Clay. But whatever it is, it will be the Presidium of the Communist Party which will do the making.

There must be a greater political upheaval in the Communist world than we can recognize at this distance. All the foreign correspondents in Moscow have not described this upheaval for us, but the evidence of change, dissent, disagreement, anger, quarrels, appears in the course of events. I would like to venture a guess as to what it is all about. I have a feeling that time will bear me out. My guess is that the basic disagreement among Soviet officias is over the question as to whether the war-scare blackmail should be continued against the United States and what are the risks. My further guess is that some day a large number of military men will be purged on the ground that they are pro-American or anti-Arab.

COOKING ON ALL BURNERS

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—One of the great difficulties in analyzing today's high cost of living and the wage increases which have to be granted to meet it is in determining where an increase in the standard of living leaves off and where inflation begins.

It is a common belief of most younger people that inflation is a post-World War II phenomenon. Old-timers know better.

A good case can be made that both inflation and the American living standard began their present climb back in 1914 when the late Henry Ford arbitrarily raised the minimum wage of his employes from $2.34 a day to $5 a day.

This was a revolutionary step that was bitterly opposed by most other employers. But gradually the rest of American industry followed suit. And so a pattern was set for higher standards of living, in which wage earners were paid enough to buy automobiles and own their own homes.

FEW PEOPLE have regarded the steady rise of American living standards since that time as particularly inflationary. But along with this 40-year rise, the United States has been through three periods of inflation and two of deflation.

First was the terrific inflation of World War 1, followed by the deflationary period of 1920-21.

The second inflationary boom of 1925-28 ended with the crash of 1929 and the ensuing deflationary depression.

The eight New Deal years that followed saw passage of a broad social welfare legislative program that gave labor unions new bargaining power. This enabled them to win sizable wage increases, general acceptance of the eight-hour day and other gains.

These increases were not considered inflationary. They were more in the nature of recovery measures to increase the standards of living out of the depression lows.

THE THIRD U. S. inflationary boom came with World War II. Price and wage controls held down the pressures to a degree. But subsidies concealed price increases. And fringe benefits granted to offset increases in the cost of living concealed wage increases.

All these gains increased the American standard of living. But inflation as it is felt today had its real beginnings in the 1940's—not in the Korean War and early 1950's.

From this over-simplified summary it can be seen that every period of inflation is followed by a period of deflation. The inflation is the high old time which everyone enjoys. The deflation is the resulting hangover which is awful.

It is the threat of deflation which now appears to be worrying the Federal Reserve Board as much as the threat of inflation.

AS FRB CHAIRMAN William McChesney Martin told Senator Byrd's Finance Committee investigation of fiscal policy:

"Our battle should constantly be against deflation. I think that is our object in combating inflation. First you have inflation, which is followed by deflation."

The desirable condition which avoids the evils of both inflation and deflation is obviously one of stability. This is not interpreted to mean a condition in which all prices and all wage levels would be frozen, without hope of change.

Some prices might go up and some go down, with the average remaining stable. Wage increases to offset increases in the cost of living could then end.

But there could be wage increases to match increases in the productivity of labor.

And in this condition the American standard of living would continue to rise, without constant inflation.

Work by Dulles Is Credited For Improved British Ties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, is getting along very well with the British. This is meaningful news. For whenever he doesn't get along very well with any foreign government, the number of inspired criticisms on this side of the water, implying that the Secretary of Sfate ought to resign, begins to multiply.

There are, of course, Democratic party politicians who keep issuing statements for partisan reasons in the hope of bringing about the elimination of Secretary Dulles from the scene. But actually this unwittingly serves the purposes of the Kremlin very well. For it keeps the free world leaders apart and exaggerates their normal differences of opinion in handling complex questions of world policy. They reason abroad that, if the Secretary of State is to be changed, it may be better to wait and see what his successor may propose.

Two weeks ago Secretary Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had a long conference here that lasted most of the day. The two men made such excellent progress that they decided perhaps the time was ripe for a meeting between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. This was the way the meeting of the two heads of government arose.

Criticisms Recalled

The conference between Selwyn Lloyd and Secretary Dulles was an unspectacular affair and the kind of thing that doesn't get much publicity. But word came afterwards from British sources that the two men had gotten along very well indeed. Yet not so long ago there was a barrage of dispatches and comments from Americans abroad that the British "don't trust Dulles." Some of this, of course, is an overhang from hurt pride in the Suez crisis. Some of it stems from the so-called "internationalist" crowd which has been steadily striving to get more money ou of the United States Treasury for foreign-aid programs. It is curious that to no small extent the opposition to Mr. Dulles emanates from certain quarters in Wall St. with ties abroad.

Basically, the present Secretaryof State is an American first, last and all the time. He has sternly refused to forget that his main job is to protect the interests of the United States and that the Congress consists of men in both parties who are American before they are international.

No leader in the Western World, moreover, has labored as conscientiously as Secretary Dulles to bring about an effective alliance of free countries or to forge special bilateral treaties with governments around the globe that are truly friendly to this country.

Partnership of Equals

The fact is that British-American relations are taking a new turn and the alliance between the two countries will provide inside NATO more effective leadership in the world hereafter precisely because Mr. Dulles has been able to define the proper limits of collaboration. It is a partnership of equals with a dedication to the same ideals.

President Eisenhower has never fallen for the bunkum that John Foster Dulles has "reduced American prestige abroad" or that "our allies don't trust him." Mr. Eisenhower knows the sources of such irresponsible comments and has himself been familiar with every step taken in American foreign policy so that it is as much his as it is that of Secretary Dulles.

The partisan critics keep pounding away, however, to such an extent that the propaganda sinks in and makes even some Eisenhower supporters wonder if something is wrong. There is, for instance, a constant and purposeful reiteration of the rumor that Mr. Dulles will resign. Certainly if he does, it will only be because of ill health. Just now he is an excellent physical condition.

There is no man in America who knows more intimately the ins and outs of foreign- policy questions than does Mr. Dulles. The policies of the United States abroad would suffer a setback if anything did happen to him. Maybe it is a mistake to vest such responsibility in one man. This correspondent wrote an article in 1952 advocating that foreign policy be conducted by a council of the five foremost Americans of a non-political typee. The secretary of State would be the chairman, and the members—appointed by the President and confirmeed by the Senate—would give their whole time to policy making and none to administrative tasks. The council would confer at times with the President, and the members' written opinions on major questions would be directly available to him.

Some day a plan of this kind will have to be adopted if American foreign policy is to be continuous and is not to be subjected to the hazards of a changing personnel.

New Treatments Curtail Spread of Skin Disease

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Every once in a while it serves as a useful reminder to all of us to discuss some disease which was formerly both common and serious, but which is today less so because of advances in medicine and improvement in living conditions. This is the case for a disease called erysipelas.

Erysipelas is an inflammatory skin disease caused by a germ known as the streptococcus. It thrives best among the poor and those living under bad sanitary conditions. It is most frequent early in life, especially during the first two years.

Yet it is more common in old people than in the middle years. Lowered general health from such things as bad diet, Bright's disease, or chronic alcoholism favor the development of erysipelas.

IT USUALLY starts suddenly and is often accompanied by high fever. The most common location is on the skin of the face and head. Chills and other signs of a suddenly rising body temperature are usually present.

At first the skin in a single spot seems to be affected. Often this is where there has been a small wound or scratch. The skin becomes reddened, and swollen within a day or two, and the involved area usually spreads rapidly. A sharp line separates the involved area usually spreads rapidly. A sharp line separates the reddened skin from the normal.

Occasionally, particularly if the patient is in good physical condition, erysipelas clears up in about a week even without treatment. Meningitis, inflammation of the kidneys and even blood poisoning, however, are not unusual complications. Since the sulfa drugs and antibiotics became available, however, the chances of recovery have become much better.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS and the proper administration of a suitable drug are important. Erysipelas is contagious and therefore the patient must be kept from contact with others in order to avoid spreading the infection.

Although erysipelas has not entirely disappeared, it is certainly less common now in most parts of the world than in the past. Furthermore, when it does develop, it can be treated much more successfully.

There will continue to be occasional cases of erysipelas, no doubt, and any mass deterioration of health or any disaster may increase its frequency again. However, if it should again become widespread we are better equipped to deal with it.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

NEW YORK (AP)—The question a New Yorker gets asked most often is, "Why, in heaven's name, do you want to live here?"

Since most New Yorkers seem to come from out of town, they sometimes ask themselves the same question.

They have to agree that most of the stock criticisms made by visitors are true:

"It's just too crowded, noisy and dirty. Everybody is in a hurry to get nowhere. It makes me tired just to watch the pace at which people go here. They don't even have time to be polite."

Yet few visitors, if truthful, can deny they have a wonderful time while they are here.

New York Greatest

For in the mid-Twentieth Century New York City reigns as the earth's greatest metropolis, a cultural and financial mecca for all the world. If you have a talent of any kind . . . a product of almost any kind . . . here is your greatest show, window and market place.

The reason most people come to live in New York is in the hope of making a bigger buck. And they generally do make a bigger buck here. Even the smallest talent is rewarded higher here than in most other cities. This is a big-spending town, and it attracts free-wheelers.

But there are other things that make New York attractive. It is a city where people will let you alone, and the neighbors aren't nosey. You can live as you want to in peace . . . that is, if you can afford to.

Different Tempo

There is a pulse to life here you don't find elsewhere — an excitement that comes with living in a city of constant change, where an old building is always coming down and a new skyscraper going up.

Whatever you want to eat you can find here, whatever you want to see is here. Like a perpetual circus there is always something going on. As Christopher Morley said, this is "the nation's thyroid gland."

Chicago, the nation's second city, is notoriously jealous of New York. But a New Yorker doesn't feel that way about Chicago. He just doesn't think of any other city being in the same league. To him, as Bugs Baer so aptly put it, any other place "is Bridgeport."

Although this attitude is maddening to citizens from other cities, the typical New Yorker is actually neither smug nor sophisticated. He is an easy victim for all kinds of con men, and seems to enjoy being conned.

"If there ever was an aviary overstocked with jays," wrote O. Henry, a Texan who made this town his own, "it is that yaptown-on-the-Hudson called New York."

Those who see the manifold faults of Manhattan and are blind to its many charms might, however, learn the tolerance O. Henry expressed in another of his tales:

"What else can you expect from a town that's shut off from the world by the ocean on one side and New Jersey on the other?"

Roots to Nationalism

Ban Women Ministers

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A convention of the State Lutheran Church of Sweden has rejected a proposal that would have permitted the ordination of women. Effect of the convention vote was to kill a government-sponsored bill authorizing the ordaining of women in the state church.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—How the retail stores fare in the next eight weeks will go a long way in foreshadowing what kind of a year 1958 will be for industry.

Consumer buying in November and December will be what the business economists will be watching. It should have more than usual weight this year on the future course of prices, industrial output, factory jobs—perhaps even on interest rates.

How the public spends for Christmas this time and how it reacts to the new cars now being unveiled is the big question mark of the day.

Just Barely Ahead

Retail sales have been just barely ahead of last year for some time now. Take in account the higher prices, and unit sales may be a little off.

But in the next two months, on one sixth of the year, most stores expect to do one fourth of the whole year's business. This makes or breaks their year as far as earnings go.

If they move the goods they have on hand or on order, they'll be in a position to reorder. If the public goes slow on buying, or buys less expensive goods than last Christmas, or admires the new car models but holds onto the old family auto, the economy all the way back to the prime producer of materials will feel the jolt. And even the Washington money managers may decide it's time to ease up on money and credit—and therefore on interest rates.

Starts Hoping Halloween

Halloween, therefore, is the day the merchant starts to cross his fingers.

On the sunny side is the fact that total personal income is high and that total employment is high. Also the banks will be handing out a record 1¼ billion dollars in Christmas club payments, 37 million dollars more than last year.

On the darker side is that many families show a tendency to spend less. One reason may be that many families already were living to the limit of their income, either in cash spending or instalment buying. When prices went up and borrowing charges went up, when overtime pay faded and some factory work weeks were shortened, these families just weren't in the position to spend for anything but the necessities.

Last Halloween there were few doubts. This time there is a big question mark.

Gaillard Progresses

PARIS (AP)—Felix Gaillard seemed to be making good progress today in lining up preliminary support for his bid to end France's month-old governmental crisis.

No open hostility to the 37-year-old financial expert has developed yet almost all political parties have given him tentative approval for the premiership.

However, many national assembly deputies have already left Paris for the long All Saints' weekend and will not be back before Monday. Until then it will be difficult to get any definite indication of Gaillard's chances.

Gaillard, finance minister in the last cabinet, will go before the national assembly Tuesday to ask approval as France's 24th postwar premier.

After 62 years, Ellis Island, world's busiest immigration station, has been closed.

No Treat, This

PEQUANNOCK, N. J. (AP)—Two teen-age boys inadvertently turned a trick into a treat yesterday when their plan for Halloween mischief ended up all wet.

Julia Lyons, principal of the Pompton Plains Grammer School, spotted the boys soaping 10 cars belonging to teachers. Miss Lyons called the boys' mothers.

As a result, the boys had to add water and elbow grease to the soap and do a thorough job of washing the cars.

Clean Getaway

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Burglars made a clean getaway from Mrs. Thomas Stone's basement last night.

Mrs. Stone told police she went to the basement to load her automatic washer. Later, she found the washer gone—clothes and all.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The name, Latham Corners, makes me think of a country general store with hitching posts and all, but so is not the case. Latham Corners has nearby cities like Albany, Rensselaer, Troy, Cohoes, Glens Falls, Saratoga, and Schenectady.

They are opening a 35 store shopping center costing some 10 million dollars, covering 32 acres and 325,000 sq. feet of buildings. They are using the European idea of having a cover over the sidewalks which will run some 25,000 sq. feet.

Latham Corners like Kingston was settled by the Dutch in the late 1600's. It was first called Town House Corners later this was changed to Van Vranken Corners in the early 1700's and in 1870 it was changed to Latham Corners.

William G. Latham bought the hotel formerly owned by Van Vranken. There was a time that it took a full day to travel from Troy to Schenectady by horse and buggy. Such is not the case now, the auto has changed all that, and because of parking problems up come these mammoth shopping centers with large parking areas.

It is said for the opening of Latham Corners Shopping Centers an invitation has been sent out to each member of the distinguished old families of Dutch settlers like the Van Den Berghs, Witbecks, Van Olindas, Van Vrankens, Oothouts, Markles and Yearsleys. The Boston Store, one of the enterprises with some 70 completely equipped departments and modern escalators has a clock in their advertisement giving distance by car to various points from Latham Corners.

To Albany it is eight minutes; to Menands four minutes; to Rensselaer 15 minutes; to Troy five minutes; to Cohoes five minutes; to Saratago 25 minutes and so on. I guess when the Dutch owned Latham Corners you could not hitch up a horse in that time that was only some 350 years ago.

To promote this modern shopping center they will have various attractions such as WPTR having their live radio broadcasts direct from one of the stores. They will have antique dolls on display costing thousands of dollars.

One of the soda firms will have the largest bottle on display, a 54-foot rubberized replica holding some 5,000 cubic feet of air, big enough to hold some 11,150 gallons of soda. The huge bottle is inflated by gas-driven air blowers and is shown in various parts of the U.S.A. and abroad for such promotional purposes.

This shopping center was first dreamed up by Robert M. Cummings of Montreal who is married to an Albany girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Barnet of 1102 Western Avenue.

Some three years ago the idea came to him when he went around the Latham traffic circle. His father developed one of the largest postwar apartment houses with some 1,500 apartments in a Montreal suburb and the project required a shopping center. This center near Albany will also have a bus depot so that 'the girls' can also go shopping without cars.

The shopping center will be open from noon until 9 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Saturday. In olden days the stores used to open near sunrise and some closed very late. How times have changed.

THE OFFICE OF

Lions Hear Talk By State Forester

WALLKILL — At a recent meeting of the Wallkill Lions Club, the principal speaker was Julius Eckert, a member of the club as well as the state forester for this area for the New York State Conservation Department. He spoke on the work of the Conservation Department and its efforts to help preserve and protect forest lands for the benefit of all of the people in the state. He also showed maps and pointed out some 125,000 acres of land in the Shawangunk and Catskill Mountains and other sections of New York State which are open to all for recreation, camping, fishing and hunting.

He also described in detail the long range program of the state in planting trees and small floral bushes which furnish protection and food for birds and small game as well as helping to prevent the erosion of the soil.

President Clare Ostrander presided at the business portion of the meeting, and Dr. Clarence Hiskey was inducted into the club as the seventh new member of this year.

The Rev. Frederick Jansen, chaplain at the Wallkill Medium Security Prison, gave a report on his attendance at the Newburgh Lions Club and also spoke on the methods of obtaining employment for prisoners about to be paroled.

John McElhenney, past president of the club, was accorded a rising vote of good luck and success by the entire club, on the announcement of his departure with his family to Hyde Park, where he has purchased a new home.

This will be the last blood collection under this year's program.

An executive meeting will be held at the Community Room of the Valley National Bank on Friday, Nov. 8 at 8 p. m., and the next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 12.

A regular meeting of the Wallkill Library Association will be held at the public library at 8 p. m. Monday, Nov. 4. Anyone interested in the library program is invited to attend.

Two Plead Innocent To Robbery Charges

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP)—Chafin E. Painter, 35, of Saranac, N. Y., and Clyde E. Elmore, 33, of St. Albans, today pleaded innocent to armed robbery charges in the $6,100 holdup of an Enosburg Falls bank Monday.

Municipal Court Judge Carl S. Gregg held them in $10,000 bail each.

Judge Gregg ordered the two jailed in lieu of bail.

Elmore and Painter were arrested yesterday in the bar of a Glen Sutton, Que., hotel.

Both were armed with pistols, but surrendered without a struggle.

Painter and Elmore had $6,073.34 in their possession when they were arrested, police said

Jet Pilot Says He And Wife Make Up

TRUMBULL, Conn. (AP) — Air Force Lt. David Steeves, jet pilot who was missing for 54 days earlier this year in rugged California mountains, said today he and his estranged wife, Rita, have become reconciled.

Steeves made the statement at the home of his parents here when reporters called him to check such a report. He is on leave from Craig Air Force Base, Selma, Ala.

Steeves told newsmen he will ask permission to resign from the Air Force so that he can resume life with his wife and daughter.

Army Files Spy Count Against GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has filed espionage charges against M. Sgt. Roy Adair Rhodes, who testified as a government witness at the recent New York trial of Russian spy Rudolph Abel.

The 40-year-old soldier testified that he didn't know Abel and never worked for him.

But Rhodes also said in court that he received between $2,500 and $3,000 from the Russians for information he supplied them while assigned to the U. S. embassy in Moscow. He was there from May 1951 to July 1953.

An Army announcement yesterday said Rhodes had been charged in court martial proceedings with two specifications alleging a conspiracy to violate the espionage laws, and one specification alleging he signed an official document without disclosing his prior association with Red agents.

Rhodes, from Eatonton, N. J., now is being held at Ft. Belvoir, Va. Conviction could carry a maximum of life imprisonment.

Assigned as Nurse

Major Brown is a 1938 graduate of Lenox Hill Hospital School of Nursing. She was formerly employed by Lenox Hill Hospital.

Meir Released, Ben-Gurion Is Still in Hospital

JERUSALEM (AP)—Foreign Minister Golda Meir, one of five government leaders wounded in the bombing of parliament Tuesday, was released from the hospital today.

Hospital authorities said Premier David Gen-Gurion could go home within two days. He was slightly wounded when a hand grenade hurled from the gallery by a young Iraqi Jew exploded a yard away.

Mrs. Meir was pale but smiling when she was brought to her car in a wheel chair. She was wounded in the right foot. Asked if she was returning to work at the foreign ministry, she replied: "I'm afraid not immediately. There's still a wound."

Moshe Shapiro, minister of social welfare, was the most seriously wounded. Grenade fragments struck him in the head, chest and stomach. Hospital authorities said he is improved after surgery.

Heavy Smoking Cited In Death of King

LONDON (AP)—A British doctor declared in a book published today that the death of King George VI resulted from his heavy indulgence in cigarets.

The king died in 1952 after an operation for lung cancer. The immediate cause of death was coronary thrombosis.

Dr. Lennox Johnson, in his book "The Disease of Tobacco Smoking and Its Cure," said he learned from one of the king's surgeons that although the monarch rarely smoked in public, he was a "consistently heavy smoker" in private life.

Dr. Johnson said he concluded from a study of the symptons of the king's fatal illness that smoking—regarded by many researchers as a contributory cause of lung cancer—led to death.

Chinese Scientists Win Nobel Awards

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Two young Chinese-born nuclear scientists working in America won the 1957 Nobel Prize in physics today for removing important obstacles to the understanding of the functions of the atom and the universe.

The joint winners of the $42,000 award are Dr. Chen Ning Yang, 34-year-old professor of physics at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J., and Dr. Tsung Dao Lee, 30, Columbia University professor of physics who is on leave and also at the Princeton institute.

The two first met at a university in Kunming, China, in the early 1940s but did not begin working together until 1948, after both had come to the United States to study. Lee's father is dead and his mother lives on Formosa; Yang's parents live in Shanghai, on the Communist-ruled mainland.

Italian Reds See Severe Zhukov Verdict

ROME (AP) — Italy's Communist Party organ today predicted Russia's top leaders would issue a "severe verdict" against Marshal Georgi Zhukov and hinted he would be accused of "Bonapartism."

The Moscow correspondent of the paper, L'Unita, said the ruling presidium of the Communist Party Central Committee had completed a two-day session on the case of the ousted defense minister Tuesday night.

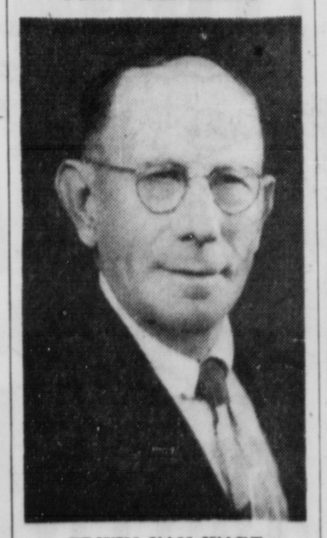

The dispatch, by Biuseppe Boffa, suggested that Zhukov, like Napoleon, had wanted to advance from command of the armed forces to fulfill a "political ambition perhaps unlimited."

Plan Is There

Russia May Send Up Larger Earth Satellite Nov. 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia reportedly plans to blast a larger earth satellite into orbit Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The Communist Daily Worker in London said in a Moscow dispatch that "conditions may make it impossible to launch it on that particular day, but the plan is there."

New U. S. Test

The United States, meanwhile, conducted another missile test at Cape Canaveral, Fla., late last night. The device was described as a Jupiter A, believed to be an improved version of the Redstone missile which has a range of 200 miles.

New predictions have been made that Sputnik's carrier rocket may plunge to the earth soon, and that Sputnik itself will follow in a few weeks, perhaps by the end of the year.

The sphere and its rocket section have been streaking around the earth at about 18,000 miles an hour since Oct. 4.

Radio Moscow said last night that Sputnik's rocket section will come crashing to earth soon, but that the sphere probably will last several more weeks.

At Cambridge, Mass., Dr. Fred L. Whipple of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reached about the same conclusions. He said the rocket may fall to earth in the first two weeks of December, and that Sputnik itself probably will make its death plunge about the end of the year.

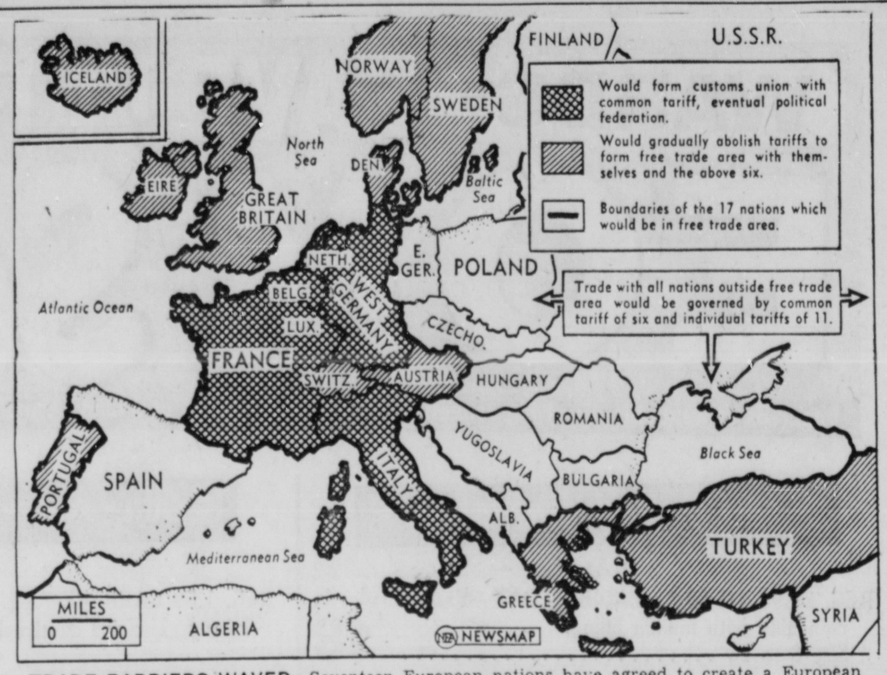

Makes 395th Trip

Both Whipple and Moscow indicated part of the rocket section might survive the blazing descent from outer space. Whipple predicted the rocket would burst into flame from air friction about 200 miles above the earth.

Whipple said there is some chance the rocket's spectacular plunge might be visible in the United States.

Moscow said, meanwhile that the rocket completed, at 10 p. m. EST last night, its 395th trip around the earth. Sputnik was 1¼ laps behind.

A federal census estimates that Australia's population is approximately 9,600,000.

TRADE BARRIERS WAVER—Seventeen European nations have agreed to create a European free trade area as the result of a recent meeting in Paris of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation. The plan grew out of an agreement among six nations (crosshatched areas on Newschart) to form a common market with common tariff among them, with a view toward eventual political federation. In the expanded plan, shown above, 11 other countries (diagonal shading) while not joining the customs union with the six, would gradually abolish tariffs on most commodities. This would, in effect, create a free trade area of all 17. In addition, the Scandinavian countries are considering a common tariff and customs union among themselves. The free trade area conception presents difficulties but many consider its adoption inevitable.

Further Russian Penetration of Syria Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials today forecast that vastly increased Soviet penetration of Syria would result from a newly concluded Soviet-Syrian economic aid agreement.

Russia will be in a position under terms of the accord, they said, to triple or quadruple the number of Soviet technicians in Syria with the excuse it is helping build up Syria's economy. An estimated 250 Russian technicians are there now.

The Soviet-Syrian agreement, announced Monday, promises about 200 million dollars in aid, including technical assistance in such projects as dams, power stations, road and railway construction, oil exploration and minerals extraction.

Authorities who have studied the terms said that Russia has effectively hitched Syria's economy to that of the Soviet bloc. If the agreement is carried out, they said, Syria will be totally dependent on Russia and its satellites. Syria's exports of cotton, tobacco and wheat will go to the Communist countries for an indefinite period.

'Kate' Due in Poland

NEW YORK (AP) — Theater fans in Poland are going to see "Kiss Me Kate," one of America's most popular musicals abroad, as the result of special royalty arrangements. The writers of the show, Sam and Bella Spewack have assigned their percentage to Jewish relief work in that country.

Meany Rejects Red Trade Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany has turned down a Soviet proposal that the United States and Russia exchange trade union delegations.

The Russian proposal was presented in Washington last Monday by Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin.

Meany, without waiting for formal receipt of the bid from the State Department, said here yesterday that Zaroubin's suggestion "revealed his total ignorance of American democracy," and added:

"No believer in the basic principles of free trade unionism could today conceivably desecrate these principles by undertaking to visit a country whose tyrannical leadership has for the 40 years of its existence been the avowed and uncompromising enemy of all human rights."

U. S., Poles Talk Of Economic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Poland started new economic talks today aimed at providing further American assistance to the Communist regime of Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The negotiation at the State Department is an extension of an agreement signed last June 7 providing 95 million dollars in U. S. economic aid to Poland.

This arrangement came after President Eisenhower offered help in getting the Gomulka regime started on its policy of greater independence from Moscow domination.

Under the June agreement, Poland got surplus farm goods and mining machinery.

There was no estimate on how long the talks would continue. The Polish delegation which concluded the June agreement was in Washington for more than three months.

Firedog

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A Lincoln woman awoke from a nap to find her boxer puppy running around the house with a flaming rug in its mouth. Mrs. J. R. Ashleman said she had put the rug on the kitchen stove to dry. She vainly tried to catch the dog, then telephoned the fire department. Service was fast because a fire truck happened to be right across the street on an inspection mission. Rug and floor were damaged by the flames. Mrs. Ashleman wasn't sure whether the dog was trying to be a hero or an arsonist.

KNOWS HIS GUN — Pvt. Richard P. Knows His Gun—that's his name, not a sentence—proves that, like his father, and grandfather, he deserves that moniker. Richard, now a Marine, hails from the Crow Indian Agency at Hardin, Mont. A veteran hunter, who started with a toy bow and arrow, he's polishing up the gun he'll use on a hunting trip planned for patients at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., where he's undergoing treatment.

Sees Larger Dairy Farms

BOSTON (AP)—W. P. Davis, general manager of the New England Milk Producers' Assn., said today the ever increasing cost of production is hastening the change to fewer and larger dairy farms.

"The small units, for the most part, are no longer economically feasible," he told nearly 200 delegates representing the cooperative's 6,000 members in New England and the eastern counties of New York.

He said dairying is in a transition period as we stand "on the threshold of the fully mechanized dairy farm."

He listed as important changes bulk tank handling of milk, the use of multiple-quart containers in retail distribution, increasing use of mechanical means for dairy chores and better breeding, feeding and management.

Grange Asking Higher Tariff on Syrup

CORNING (AP)—The New York State Grange asked today for a restoration of higher tariffs on imports of Canadian maple syrup and maple sugar as a market protection for New York State producers.

The maple products tariff resolution asked that rates of eight cents a pound on maple sugar and 5½ cents a pound on maple syrup be restored. The rates were cut recently to two cents on sugar and 1½ cents on syrup.

Reuter told The Freeman that a number of witnesses were being interviewed in "various parts of the city."

Officer Albert C. Hutton, Jr., of the Kingston Police Department was scheduled to appear this morning.

Perry Not Involved

Another of today's witnesses was Alderman Samuel J. Perry of the Fifth ward, who was scheduled for an earlier appearance at the armory, but was not interviewed until this morning.

It had been reported that he was questioned earlier this week.

In connection with Perry's appearance before the commission, Reuter issued this statement:

"Alderman Perry appeared voluntarily at my request. There should be no implication whatsoever from Alderman Perry's appearance here that he is personally involved in this investigation in any way. He was called like many other witnesses simply to obtain information as to matter under scrutiny by this office."

Reuter said the commission was "listening" to any and all complaints received from residents of the area.

He said the staff would determine if information submitted was "sufficient material" to justify further investigation along particular lines.

Scope Uncertain

He explained that the commission "would not refuse to listen to people who come in with information which they feel has some importance," but that it also did not necessarily indicate that the investigation would exceed its present scope.

The material will be evaluated and submitted to Governor Harriman.

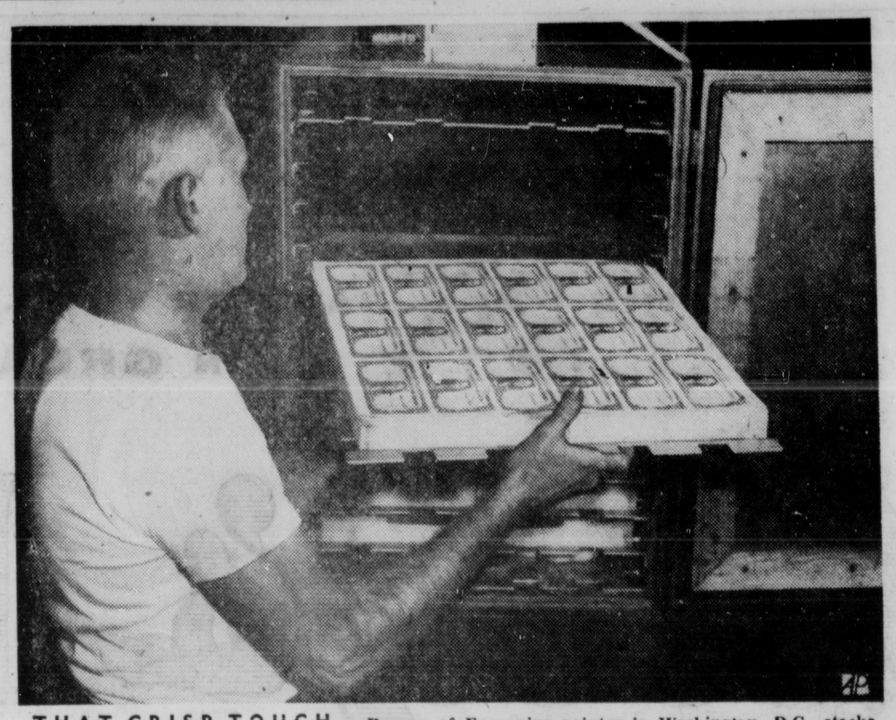

When the staff will be ready to submit such a report is a matter of speculation.

Says Its 'Snowballing'

There are indications that the investigation will continue for some time. Reuter's staff has been increased by one—Benjamin Gould of New York City—and a spokesman for the group said Wednesday that the probe is "snowballing."

Among those appearing before the commission Wednesday were Lt. Charles Hoehing, Sgt. Lemuel Howard and Patrolman Howard DeGraff of Kingston Police Department. Others who have appeared during the past week are Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, Deputy Chief Robert Murphy, Lt. Grover Hoffay and Ulster County Investigator Arthur Brown.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Central Railroad today declared a dividend of one share of second preferred stock of the Reading Co. for each 65 shares of N. Y Central. The dividend is payable Dec. 20 to holders of record Nov. 15.

At the current market level of Reading's second preferred, the distribution represents a dividend of about 47 cents on each Central share. This brings the distribution total for the year to about $2.71 a share, the railroad said.

of directors, including the seven whose terms expire December 31, 1957.

The Chamber of Commerce election procedure includes the nominating ballot, from which the names of the 14 nominees receiving the highest number of votes are placed on another election ballot to be mailed on or about December 1. On this final ballot the seven persons receiving the highest number of votes are declared elected for a term of three years.

Asks Prompt Return

In making this announcement today Chamber President Robert L. Sabin urged that all members vote for the candidates of their choice and promptly return the ballot in the self-addressed return envelope.

The tellers of election will count the ballots between November 10 and November 15 as provided in the By-Laws. Therefore, any ballot not returned by November 10 may not arrive in time to be counted.

Missile Destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said today an Army missile fired last night at Cape Canaveral, Fla., had to be destroyed when it didn't function properly.

The missile was launched shortly before midnight. Observers near the test center said it rose straight up to about 30,000 feet and was in flight 2½ minutes.

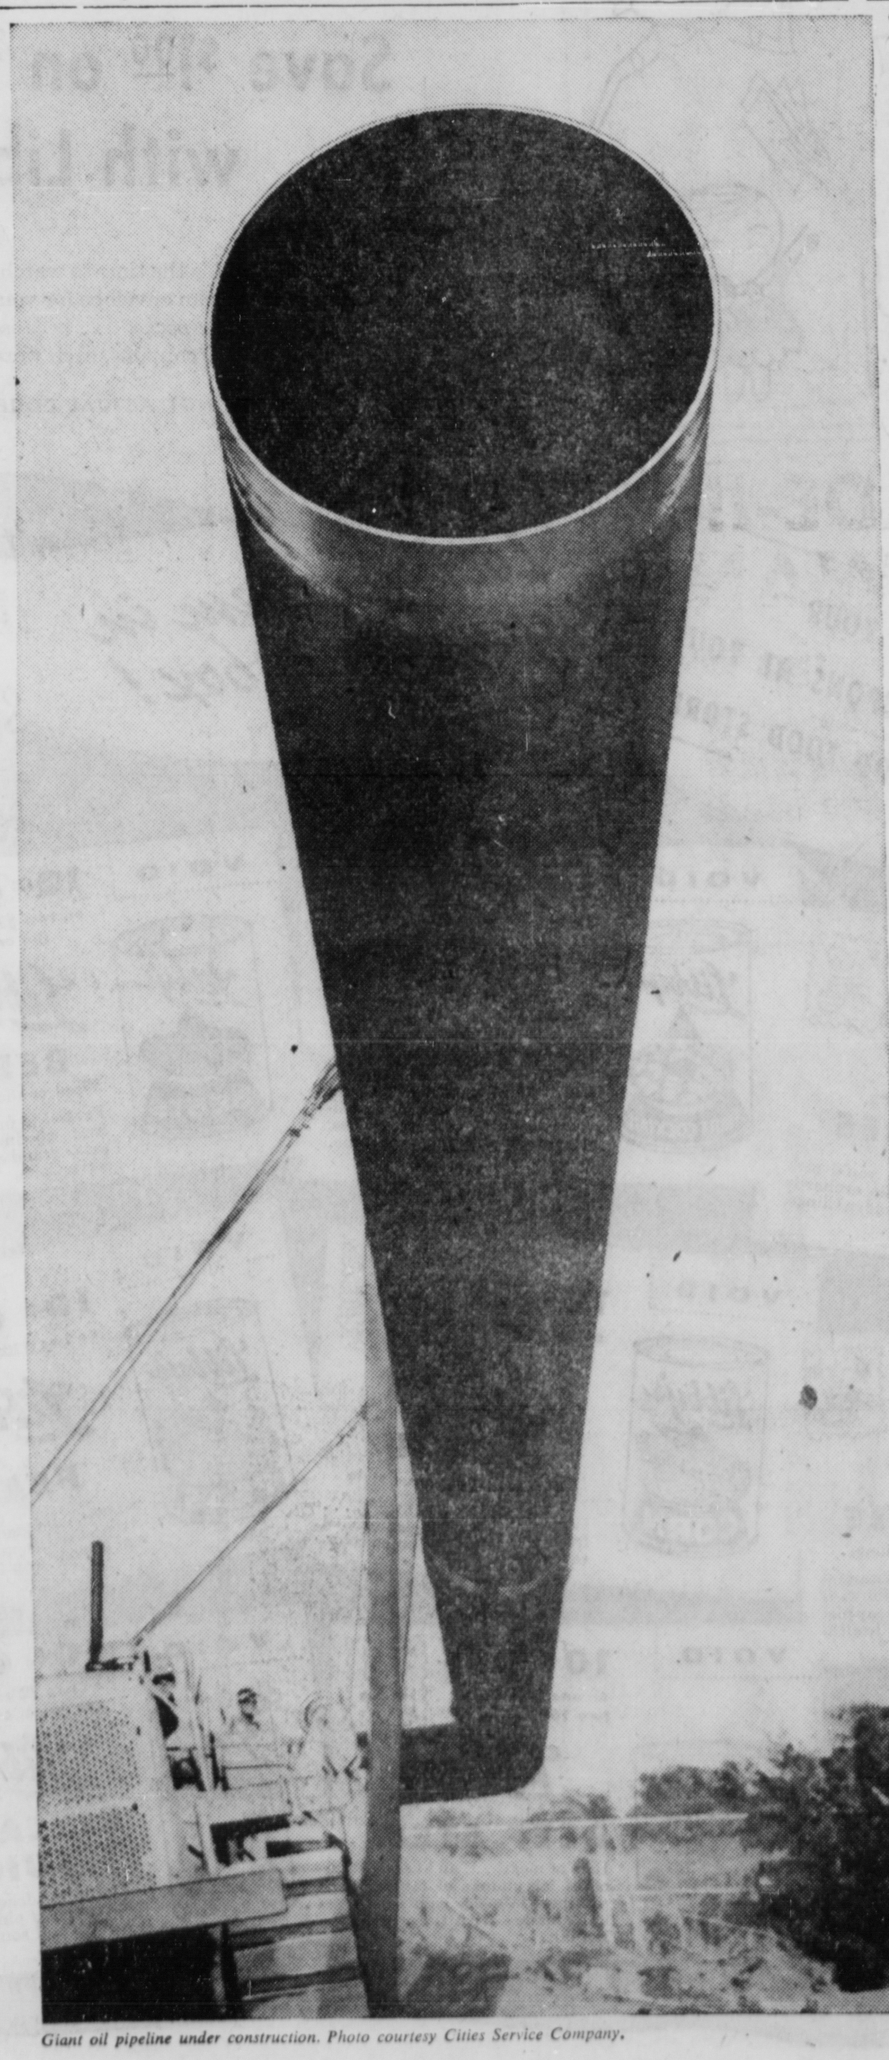

The Pentagon said the test center at Canaveral reported that the missile was destroyed "by the range safety officer when instrumentation disclosed a malfunction."

No further details were available here.

The missile was described as a Jupiter-A, a version of the Army's Redstone intermediate-range missile fitted out with equipment for special tests in connection with the missile program.

It takes a GIANT to stretch from coast to coast

Just as an enormous oil pipeline carries petroleum from producer to consumer, so does a giant medium carry goods from advertiser to consumer. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The newspaper pipeline is the shortest distance between advertiser and buyer. It functions without letup, carrying sales messages to an average 100,000,000 people daily.

The complete and constant coverage that newspapers guarantee every advertiser is one of the reasons that prompt advertisers to place an overwhelming emphasis on newspapers. Last year all advertisers spent $3,235,600,000 in newspaper advertising—more than they spent in television, radio, magazines and outdoor combined!

If you want a steady flow of your products to your consumers, use steady advertising in the daily newspaper. It's the most efficient and direct pipeline.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers.

Negroes to Move Into All-White Area in North

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A family of southern Negroes will be moved into an exclusive, all white neighborhood in a northern city within 60 days, the Chronicle said today.

State Sen. A. A. Fowler would neither identify the family nor name the city but said the home is in "an outstanding, quiet, respectable neighborhood in the $75,000 class," the paper reported.

"The location is such that it will give one of the country's leading exponents of integration a chance to practice some of the 'mixing' he has been preaching to the people of Georgia and the south," Fowler was quoted.

Fowler, Atty. Roy V. Harris of Augusta, and State Welfare Director Allan Kemper organized the American Resettlement Foundation Inc., whose object is to settle low income southern Negro families in upper class northern neighborhoods.

Fowler told the paper that earnest money and an option on the house was accepted yesterday. He said the family would be charged $1 a year rent on the $75,000 home.

Fowler said a group of attorneys will be standing by in the event residents of the northern neighborhood attempt to block the Negro family from setting up housekeeping.

"We are going to insist that these citizens are provided with all their civil rights," he was quoted.

Fowler was also quoted as saying:

"We are looking for a family of large proportions. Ten or 15 kids would be fine. It is entirely possible that we will have to ask the President to call out the Army to protect these children when they go to school."

Added Tool

FORT PRESCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Raymond Mason, a plumber, added a rifle to the tool kit he carried to a job at a farm home. Working in tight quarters under the house, Mason saw a rattlesnake coiled on a foundation plate two feet away. He called to a fellow worker, who obtained a rifle from the farmer and passed it to Mason. Mason fired. The snake leaped, falling just short of him. He shot it again. Next day, Mason returned to the job, armed with a rifle of his own. He completed the job without seeing another snake.

Contracts Total $93,585,256 for Seaway Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contracts totaling $93,585,256 for construction of the U. S. portion of the St. Lawrence Seaway have been awarded.

This was reported today by the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., the agency created by Congress to construct and maintain the American part of the 27-foot-deep international waterway.

Final U. S. cost of the seaway, scheduled to be opened in April, 1959, is estimated at 133 million dollars. Canada, the other partner in the project, is spending about 300 million dollars.

Opens in July

The seaway will be opened for 14-foot navigation next July.

This is possible because at that time the power pool of the St. Lawrence power development at Massena, N. Y., will be raised to flood approximately 40,000 acres.

The flooding will terminate use of Canada's existing 14-foot canal and locks at and above Cornwall, Ont., and all river shipping through the International Rapids sections will necessarily use U. S. Seaway facilities at this point.

The facilities consist of the 10-mile Long Sault ship canal and the Eisenhower and Grasse River locks. The locks will raise and lower vessels a total of 90 feet through the canal, thus enabling them to bypass the power structures.

Dredging Ahead

At this time, the Eisenhower lock is 83.75 per cent complete and the Grasse River 80.23 per cent finished. The upstream portion of the Long Sault canal is complete and the mainland portion 92.9 per cent finished.

The corporation, in its monthly progress report, said dredging in the South Cornwall channel is ahead of schedule. Since dredging commenced in Section A of the channel about 100,200 cubic yards of material have been removed. Approximately 289,800 cubic yards remain to be excavated.

10-Room School

at the Main St. School; 81 at Hill Street; 318 at Glasco; 310 at Mount Marion; 79 at Malden; 54 at North Flatbush; 14 at Asbury; 26 at Cedar Grove; 19 at Katsbaan; 25 at Saxton.

When Mount Marion opens Monday, all of the one-room schools in the new central district will be closed except four: Asbur, Cedar Grove, Katsbaan and Saxton. The closing of these schools is determined by a vote of the taxpayers in each of those respective districts.

Total Enrollment 2,200

The enrollment in the high school, which is approximately 800, brings the grand total of pupils attending in the district to 2,200.

The faculty of the Mount Marion School will be made up as follows: 6th grade and acting principal, Edward Leonard; 5th grade, Mrs. William Mulvihill and Mrs. Sylvia Chipman; 4th grade, Mrs. Charlotte Reynolds; 2nd grade, Miss Mary O'Reilly; 1st grade, Miss Anna B. Riseley and Florence Campbell; kindergarten, (two half-day groups) Mrs. Gloria Plasker.

The date of dedication of the Mount Marion School has not been determined by the board of education. This matter will be discussed at its first meeting in November. In addition to 10 classrooms, it provides a large all-purpose room which will be used as an auditorium, gymnasium, and cafeteria. The building includes a nurse suite; principal's office; conference room; and store room; two small rest rooms for teachers; a small shower room and dressing room; a good-sized kitchen; a middle-sized music room and a door from which leads directly onto the stage.

Provision has been made for the installation in the future of a sliding door, by means of which the all-purpose room can be divided into two parts. No decision has been made by the board of education as to when this will be installed. The purpose of such a door is to use the all-purpose room for two rooms rather than one. Under this plan, one part could be used for a gymnasium class or some other purpose, while the other half is being used as a cafeteria, Dr. Morse said.

Splendid View

The windows in the new Mount Marion building are large, and provide splendid views of the immediate, surrounding area. The floors of the classrooms are of asphalt tile. The floor material used in the corridors is terrazo, a material which makes possible efficient and rapid cleaning.

The building is one story throughout, but the all-purpose room is of good heighth, making it suitable for athletic games, including basketball. The kindergarten room is larger than the other classrooms. It is located at the front of the building, on the southeast corner. It has an exit door making it possible for pupils to go directly onto the play area without having to pass through the corridor.

It is expected that the all-purpose room and the cafeteria facilities will be finished as early as November 15, and almost certainly December 1, Dr. Morse said.

As soon as they are ready, cafeteria lunches will be available at the Mount Marion School. Cafeteria workers there have already been selected. They are Mrs. Alice May DuBois, and Mrs. Thomas B. Atkins. The custodian of the Mount Marion building is Aart Vos, who will assume his duties the middle of next week. George McNally is the clerk of the works at the Mount Marion building. The builder is I. and O. A. Slutzky. The architects are Sargent-Webster-Crenshaw, and Folley, of Syracuse and Schenectady.

Glasco Work Continues

The 10-room building at Glasco will shortly be completed, according to Dr. Morse.

The work schedule there is the same one which prevails at Mt. Marion.

New facilities at Glasco will include a new principal's office; health suite; kitchen; sewerage system; roof repairs; improvement of the auditorium and a paved area leading to and surrounding the building.

It is expected that the cafeteria there will open at approximately the same time as the cafeteria at Mt. Marion. Cafeteria workers have been selected by the board. The Glasco building, beginning next Monday, will house 318 pupils.

The faculty there is as follows: 6th grade and principal, Patrick Buonfiglio; 5th grade, Bernard Rinaldi; 4th grade, Mrs. Muriel Ferraro; 3rd grade, Miss Dolores Riccardi; 2nd grade, Mrs. Zelda Pedowitz, and Mrs. Lillian Myers; 1st grade, Mrs. Cynthia McGraw and Mrs. Hilda Galietta; Kindergarten(two half-day sessions), Mrs. Anna Mahoney.

HOAX OR SPUTNIK'S COUSIN?—Army Sgt. John Campbell holds a strange object found in the mountains near Los Angeles. Rain Called—Game

WALPI, Ariz. (AP) — Ancient rainmaking ceremonies of the Hopi Indians had a modern touch this year. While Hopi children staged their colorful butterfly dance, a group of Indians at a nearby hamburger stand were listening to a radio—and keeping a boxscore of a St. Louis-Brooklyn baseball game.

Tape Trader

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Donald Rafferty, a 37-year-old typist clerk of San Bernardino, has an unusual hobby. He is a member of Tape-Respondents, International. "When I ask anyone if they know what a tape club is, they inevitably answer negatively," he said. "A tape club is one in which members who own tape recorders exchange tapes with one another."

"At present," said Rafferty, "I am exchanging tapes with club members in the United States, British Columbia, England and Australia."

Rosendale Area Getting Another Voting Machine

An additional voting machine has been ordered for the third election district of the Town of Rosendale, Supervisor George Mollenhauer announced today. The additional machine will be rented by the town for the current election under the usual arrangement whereby the town has an option to purchase the machine.

The extra voting machine was obtained because of the substantial increase in the registration this year in the third district. There will be two voting machines situated at the Tillson fire house this year to facilitate voting. Registration has been increased to over 1,100 in this district, which is made up of all the territory in the town south of the Rondout Creek. However the greatest number is from the Tillson section, where a substantial number of new homes have recently been constructed.

Indians Bid Congress Set Up Education Fund

CLAREMORE, Okla. (AP)—A proposal by the western tribes of the state of Washington that Congress set up a 10 million dollar American Indian scholarship fund was to be presented today to the National Congress of American Indians.

The proposal is one of several resolutions to be offered at the convention, now in its fourth day.

The resolution specifies an independent board be appointed by the President consisting of three tribal Indians and three professional educators to choose 9,000 students annually as recipients of loans not to exceed $1,000 a student.

Each student would have to be of Indian blood and would have to repay the money later. The fund eventually would become self-sustaining.

The Orkney Islands became a part of Scotland when they were pawned to that country by Norway in 1468 as security for the dowry of a Norwegian princess. The money was never paid.

IBM Gives Report On Dividend and New Sales Post

NEW YORK—An announcement from World Headquarters of International Business Machines today reported on dividends for stockholders and a new corporate staff post dealing with sales forecasting and product planning.

Herbert R. Keith has been appointed as director of marketing services to coordinate marketing, product planning, market research and sales forecasting for the company's various divisions.

60 Cents Per Share

The board of directors has declared a regular cash dividend for the fourth quarter in the amount of 60 cents per share, payable December 10 to stockholders of record on November 13.

The board also declared a two and one half per cent stock dividend payable January 28, 1958, to stockholders of record January 6. Additional shares resulting from the stock dividend will be mailed on January 28 or as soon thereafter as practicable.

Announced by Watson

Appointment of Keith as director of marketing services was announced by Thomas J. Watson Jr., IBM president.

Paul S. Wells has been named general manager of IBM's time equipment division, the position formerly held by Keith.

In his new position Wells will direct engineering, manufacturing and marketing activities of the division.

Robert Ritchie Jr., has been appointed to Wells' former position as sales manager of the time equipment division.

Held Executive Posts

Keith joined IBM in 1933, and has served in various sales and administrative posts. Prior to his appointment as general manager of the time equipment division, he was executive assistant to the executive vice president.

Wells has been with IBM since 1938. He has served in time equipment sales posts and as a special representative. He was named assistant sales manager of the time equipment division in 1953, and two years later was appointed sales manager.

Ritchie was formerly manager of one of the company's sales districts, with headquarters in Detroit. He has been in sales posts with the firm since 1945, including that of sales planning coordinator at the New York headquarters.

December Date Is Given for Channel 10 Going on Air

Officials of Television Station WCDA in Albany today reported that considerable progress is being made on the new tower for Channel 10 and that the new VHF station will probably go on the air early in December.

WCDA is currently telecasting on Ultra High Frequency for its three stations, Channels 19, 29 and 41. Channel 41, at Mt. Greylock, Mass., will remain on the air as a UHF station when Channel 10 begins telecasting, it was announced earlier by WCDA.

The new 1,353-foot tower now under construction at Vail Mills will be one of the highest television towers in the eastern part of the country, the station said today.

Amateurs Get TV Scripts

NEW YORK (AP)—Television is joining Broadway as a source of scripts for amateur theatrical groups. The Dramatists Play Service included four TV originals in the latest batch of plays released for such use. Single video scripts occasionally have been released previously. Included are "Amicable Parting," by George S. Kaufman and Leueen McGrath; "The Starring Match" by Jerry McNeely; "Your Every Wish" by Clifford Goldsmith, and "The Drop of a Hat" by Dick Berg.

Hughes Is Certified For Oneonta Vote

ONEONTA (AP)—Mayor Roger G. Hughes will be a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket next Tuesday instead of Clifford J. Harrer.

The Otsego County Board of Elections reversed itself yesterday and certified Hughes as the GOP candidate.

The board said Hughes received 862 votes in last month's primary election, against 777 for Harrer, who was backed by the Republican organization.

The board originally ruled Harrer the winner but Hughes appealed to the courts and a recanvass was conducted.

All of Hughes' votes were write-in. He had announced that he would not seek re-election.

Shadow of Sputnik Hovers Over as Ike, Press Meet

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—No one mentioned Sputnik by name but the shadow of the Russian satellite across President Eisenhower's news conference yesterday was just as real as if it had been revolving around his head.

The questions and answers reflected the shock of Sputnik on both the American people and the Eisenhower administration — a shock into an acute realization of Russian progress in missiles, science and scientific brains.

Nothing showed better the kind of silly paradise in which this country has been living than Eisenhower's own words in explaining his desire to promote American-British cooperation in nuclear development.

Laws Outdated

Under laws now on the books—they've been there for years — this country can't share its nuclear secrets with its allies, although cooperation with them might have put the Allies ahead of Russia.

These laws apparently were meant to prevent the secrets from falling into Russian hands. The Russians have been doing all right by themselves. Eisenhower pointed out:

"...Most of our security laws... were written at a time when we thought we had a monopoly. Now we are getting to the point where we know that a great many of our secrets are known to the enemy, but they are still secret from our friends, which seems rather an anomlous situation."

As a result of Sputnik, Eisenhower will go to Paris in December for an Allied summit meeting to talk more cooperation on defense among the Allies. The British spurred him into that idea.

Much Up to Ike

They had a real shock from Sputnik. Since the Russians were able to build a missile to shoot Sputnik into outer space, they should be able to build missiles that could be showered on Britain from Moscow.

Just how long the shock of Sputnik will affect the American people will depend in large part on what kind of leadership Eisenhower shows in keeping the public aware of the need for scientific development, especially in missiles and outer space progress.

Harriman Proclaims State University Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Tomorrow will be "State University of New York Day" in New York State.

In a ceremony today, Gov. Harriman signed the proclamation and urged voters to inform themselves "of the purpose and provisions of amendment No. 1 and to exercise their choice on it when they go to the polls on election day..."

The amendment, if approved Tuesday, would permit the state to borrow 250 million dollars for expansion of the state university.

Harriman said he was signing the proclamation in response to a petition bearing the signatures of more than 20,000 members of the State University Confederation of Students. The group urges a "Yes" vote.

The confederation was formed earlier this month.

Girard Verdict Due by Nov. 20

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — The prosecution rested its case against GI William S. Girard today and asked a Japanese court to sentence him to prison for five years.

The 22-year-old Illinois soldier's lawyers will make their final plea Nov. 5. A verdict is expected by Nov. 20.

Girard is on trial for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a Japanese scavenging for scrap brass, on a military firing range last Jan. 30. He is charged with inflicting "bodily injury resulting in death," the equivalent of manslaughter. The maximum penalty is 15 years.

There has been considerable speculation that presiding Judge Yuzo Kawachi, if he convicted the soldier, would suspend sentence and allow him to return to the United States with the Japanes girl he married last summer.

Suspension of sentences of up to three years are usual in Japan for first offenders or where the prosecution case is weak.

Money Cache a Hoax

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Informed sources have written off the reported finding of $162,000 by former policeman Vernon L. Maynor as a hoax. The money, they said, is in worthless Confederate bills.

Maynor announced Monday the money was found on his property, but would not permit newsmen to see it.

The newly appointed secretary inspected the U.S. Naval Submarine Base in New London, Conn., then made an overnight cruise on the nuclear-powered submarine Seawolf. McElroy is the first secretary of defense ever to ride in a submarine. President Eisenhower recently took a short cruise aboard the Seawolf.

Political Gamble

Ike Gives Solid Boost to Forbes In Jersey Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may be risking a political black eye in his enthusiastic endorsement of Republican Malcolm Forbes in the New Jersey governorship race.

On the other hand, Eisenhower's plug for Forbes in a contest some Republicans regard as a long-shot gamble may be of more significance to the GOP in the 1958 battle for control of Congress than what happens at the polls in New Jersey.

Forbes is running against Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner. If Forbes wins next Tuesday, it would provide—as Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday—"a great big shot in the arm" for Republicans.

Defeat Could Hurt

If Forbes loses, Eisenhower will have put himself into a situation many will regard as confirmation of reports his own political popularity is slipping noticeably.

At his news conference, Eisenhower was asked only about the Forbes-Meyner race. But Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said later the President hopes also for a victory by Republican Ted Dalton over Democrat J. Lindsay Almond for governor of Virginia.

Politicians here read the President's action as indicating he intends to make a stiff fight for the kind of candidates he likes, even if he has to take some political lumps in the process.

These politicians are contrasting this new attitude to the considerably more cautious course Eisenhower followed in 1956, when his own re-election was at stake.

In discussing his attitude toward the 1958 campaign, Eisenhower said last May 22 that he will support "enthusiastically" Republicans who back him on major issues. As for those who are against him, he said, he'll be for them "merely because they are Republican."

Wipes Out Alibi

In the case of Forbes, Eisenhower wiped out any chance the Republicans could alibi defeat by contending that local—and not national—issues decided the contest.

By the same token, he went a long way toward making any Forbes victory a lesson to those in the party who don't like the White House brand of "Modern Republicanism."

To some this looked like a new determination by Eisenhower to carry out his post-election pledge to remake his party.

Eisenhower described Forbes as "the young, vigorous type of candidate we should have in politics."

"I believe he is a man of fine character," the President said. "He has a fine family and I think he would make an effective governor, so I am for him."

In the 84th Congress, two women served in the Senate and 15 women in the House of Representatives.

Reports Humans Now at Limit on Life Expectancy

CLEVELAND (AP) — Human beings have about reached the limit on how long they can expect to live.

This conclusion was reported today by Dr. Morris Rockstein, associate professor of physiology at New York University, to the opening session of the 10th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

To back up his conclusion he cited studies of animals and mortality data which shows that—like the color of their eyes, hair and skin—human beings inherit most of the conditions which decide how long they'll live.

At Maximum Now

Since man has no control over these inherited conditions, he said, human beings are arbitrarily limited to about the present length of life.

"With a considerable number of records of 100 years or over existing for the longevity of male and female humans," he said, "this suggests itself as being close to the potential maximum for the majority of human beings of the future."

One proof, he said, of the limit lies in the fact that despite the advances in medicine and public health the life expectancy of people who have reached 65 hasn't changed much over the years.

Another, he said, is the evidence from animal experiments which shows that the life span is almost always shorter for offspring that are borne or produced by older parents.

Factors Affect Limit

Rockstein said, however, that despite the fact that human life is limited by heredity, many actual living conditions affect how long a person may live. And, he suggested, by the proper control of these conditions more and more people could expect to reach their inherited limit.

These conditions, he said, include climate, diet and, probably, marriage.

Marriage, he said, is "a relatively little-discussed factor which appears to be involved in the life spans of the members of different species."

"In humans it is a fairly well-known statistical fact that at any age the mortality of bachelors or spinsters far exceeds that of their married counterparts."

One possible explanation of this, he said, may be that marriage environment is more favorable than living alone.

Probing Soviet Intentions No. 1 Problem of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Getting information on the intentions, plans and secret moves of Russia's rulers stood out today as the No. 1 problem of U. S. intelligence agencies.

Finding out what Russia can do is much easier than determining what she intends to do, the experts agree.

The evidence is that President Eisenhower and his top officials would like to know a great deal more about what goes on in the Kremlin than they do. But the best information they can get is "highly speculative."

That, at least, was the phrase used by Eisenhower yesterday when he was asked at a news conference whether he was satisfied with intelligence estimates he had received on the status of Marshal Georgi Zhukov in Soviet ruling circles. He said some weeks ago that Zhukov's position had appeared to be greatly strengthened.

Removal Was Surprise

The removal of Zhukov from his job as defense minister last Saturday caught the U. S. government by surprise and without any very good guess as to what was going on. Only after Soviet Communist Party boss Khrushchev spoke Tuesday of finding a new assignment for Zhukov was it clear to authorities here that Zhukov had been downgraded.

They still do not really know why, although the guessing is that he was removed by Khrushchev in some kind of power struggle, possibly over political control of the Red army.

Eisenhower said that "any effort to penetrate the Soviet mind, or at least the mind of the Kremlin to determine their reasons for doing anything, is highly speculative, and that is all it is."

"I don't think that any intelligence system can give you a complete and positive answer on this."

Sharp Distinction

Intelligence experts make a sharp distinction between facts bearing on the capability of an other country to do something and those bearing on its plans or intentions. Thus before the Korean War started in 1950, the U. S. government knew that the Communist in North Korea had the capability of launching a strong attack on South Korea but they had no solid information of Communist intentions and the actual attack caught Washington by surprise. The situation was about the same several months later when the Red Chinese forces joined combat.

Not all announcements of major developments hit the United States as a surprise. Russia's successful testing of long range rocket missiles is reported to have been detected well in advance of the actual announcement last month by U. S. radar equipment in Turkey.

Russia's Sputnik launching was anticipated by at least some scientific experts in the government, according to statements which have been made since the satellite was announced. Electronic detection devices for many years have kept tract of Soviet atomic tests.

All such information as this gathered by well located electrical-mechanical equipment has an important bearing on Russia's military capabilities. But it does not provide facts bearing on what Russia intends to do with those capabilities.

Garage Office Entered

Police were notified at 8 a. m., today that the Studebaker-Packard garage office, 482 Albany Avenue, had been entered and $3 in change was taken from a cash register. Nothing else was reported missing. Entrance to the building was gained through the forcing of a back door. The cash register was broken open.

U.S. Is Hopeful Of Staying Within Limit on Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury officials said today that, barring some unforeseen emergency—national or international—they have every hope and intention of staying within the 275-billion-dollar limit on the national debt.

And they emphasized that they don't expect any congressional drive for increased defense spending to alter that plan.

The officials concede that they are skating on thin financial ice, and they acknowledge the ice is going to get thinner in the coming months. The debt right now is about 900 million dollars short of the ceiling imposed by Congress —not much of a margin for a time of year when government spending traditionally outruns tax collections by a considerable amount.

The Treasury's problem is seeing that the spending doesn't dig too deeply into its four-billion-dollar cash reserve, require more borrowing, and force the debt up to the limit.

Treasury projections indicate that the debt will climb to within one or two hundred million dollars of the limit before corporation tax payments next spring start to take the heat off.

Even then they won't be out of the woods if there is an unexpected drain on the government's funds.

May Squeeze Through

The 275-billion-dollar limit was imposed by Congress in 1946. For the fiscal years 1955 and 1956, however, Congress granted a temporary increase of six billion dollars. For fiscal 1957, which ended last June 30, the temporary increase was three billion dollars, to a total of 278 billion.

"If we can maintain any reasonable balance between our income and our outgo, and between the programs we have to spend money for, we'll squeak through," a Treasury official said.

Compromise Approach Move Grows Over Border Crisis

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—A move grew in the United Nations today to seek some compromise approach to dissipate the tension between Turkey and Syria. Rival resolutions already submitted to the Assembly appeared doomed to failure.

Statements by Russian and Syrian spokesmen abroad meanwhile indicated that the crisis over Russian military aid to Syria and Turkish troop reinforcements along the Turkish-Syrian border was simmering down. The United States and Turkey have contended all along that Russia whipped up the tension to win the Arabs to the Soviet side.

Many U. N. delegates believe the only plan likely to get Assembly approval would be a watered-down proposal citing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold as a possible go-between and promising some kind of investigation.

Hammarskjold told reporters he might issue a statement today, depending on the "state of developments."

An Assembly session scheduled for today was postponed until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

It seemed unlikely that the 82-nation Assembly would give the needed two-thirds majority to Syria's proposal to send a fact-finding commission to investigate the border situation, or to the seven-nation western resolution expressing confidence that Hammarskjold could mediate the dispute.

See Phoney Warning

Western diplomats expressed the view that Russian - Syrian warnings that the United States and Turkey are about to touch off a war are so phoney that to appoint an inquiry commission would give them unwarranted dignity.

Syria, on the other hand, was reported to have told Hammarskjold she would not approve his appointment as mediator on grounds it would mean the Assembly was shirking its duty in favor of the secretary general.

India delegate V. K. Krishna Menon has suggested that both Syria and Turkey agree on a fact-finding process to help settle their differences and use Hammarskjold's good offices.

NLRB Rules Against Employe Minority

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled today that a union supported by a minority of employes of a company, violates the Taft-Hartley Act by picketing for recognition as exclusive bargaining agent.

The ruling was in a case brought against Local 639 of the Teamsters Union by Curtis Bros. Inc., a Washington, D. C., furniture and storage company.

In a 4-1 decision, the board held that picketing for recognition violates a section of the law which forbids a union "to restrain or coerce" employes in the exercise of their right to join or refrain from group bargaining activities.

The union involved was chosen representative of the Curtis drivers, warehousemen and furniture finishers in a board election in 1953 by a 15-5 vote.

In a subsequent election, following a strike, the employes voted 28-1 against the union in September 1955. The union picketing for recognition continued at least until June 1956.

The board majority, which overruled an initial finding by its trial examiner, said the illegal coercion resulted from the union's effort to cause economic loss to the employer's business, thus lessening the financial security of employes. It found also that picketing by a minority for union recognition constituted an attempt to cause the employer to commit the unfair labor practice of recognizing a minority group as bargaining agent.

U.S. Warms Up

By The Associated Press

Showery, cloudy and generally mild weather was the outlook for most of the country today.

Warming occurred in most of the nation in the past 24 hours, with biggest temperature rises in New England and in parts of the northern and central plains. Temperatures were mostly in the 50s along the eastern seaboard and in states bordering the gulf. They were in the 50s or higher in the southwest desert region and in most of California.

Great Conifers

White pine is the largest of American conifers growing east of the Rockies. Full-grown specimens stand from 90 to 150 feet high, with some reaching 200 feet.

Says Gotham Is 'Bottleneck' in Airline Service

ALBANY (AP) — A witness at a hearing on commercial airline service today described New York City as a "bottleneck" in air travel.

Philip V. Mattes, county solicitor of Lackawanna County, Pa., appealed for direct service between his area and southern New England to by-pass New York City airports.

He was one of several witnesses at a continuing hearing to determine whether changes should be made in local air service in the northeast. CAB Examiner John A. Cannon is presiding.

Dutchess Makes Appeal

Appeals for improved service also were made by Massena and Poughkeepsie and the Lehigh-Northampton Airport Authority, which operates the Allentown-Bethlehem - Easton Airport in Pennsylvania.

Mattes said the area needed direct service to southern New England that would "by-pass the New York City bottleneck."

The counties of Lackawanna and Lucerne, Pa., entered a joint appeal for additional service between the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Airport and southern New England.

Their joint statement said "the greatest gap in the air pattern serving 800,000 people in this area is the lack of adequate facilities between us and southern New England."

Mattes said that, in addition to industrial-commercial needs, there was between his area and southern New England "cultural and family relationships" stemming from settlement of the Scranton area by Connecticut families.

Mattes also urged service between Scranton-Wilkes-Barre and Ithaca and Rochester.

Cites More Workers

Willis H. Crosswhite of the Massena Chamber of Commerce said needs for air service in his area would be increased with the scheduled opening in 1959 of Reynolds Metals Co. and General Motors plants at nearby Rooseveltown. He said the two plants would employ 1,700.

Crosswhite said Massena needs improved service to New York City, and Syracuse and service to Plattsburgh.

W. R. R. Winans, manager of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce, asked for authorization of local carrier service between Poughkeepsie and Boston and inclusion of Poughkeepsie on a Mohawk Airlines route between New York - Newark and Utica-Rome.

Representatives of several industrial firms in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area urged additional service to various points.

Hearing Ends Friday

Other witnesses in the Lehigh-Northampton Airport Authority appeal for additional service will be heard in Washington when the hearing is resumed there Nov. 12. It ends in Albany tomorrow.

John H. Leh of Allentown, chairman of the Lehigh-Northampton Airport Authority, urged local service that would connect such points as Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, Hartford, Providence and Boston.

In testimony yesterday, the city of Ogdensburg said it needed permanent air service if it were to "take and reap the benefits of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

Eric C. Gordon, representing the city government, asked that temporary service now in effect be given permanent status.

Noisy Kitchen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Leldon Backes, almost totally deaf for the whole of her married life, has just had an operation to restore her hearing. And she's found her kitchen is a pretty noisy place. "I never knew things sizzled so when I fried them," she said. "They make a terrible racket."

Traps Escapees

ROSHARON, Tex. (AP) — Wesley Stanford Emerson, 35, and Curtis Rogers, Jr., 22, two convicts serving time for robbery, escaped from nearby Ramsey Prison Farm. Two nights later they were captured in a watermelon patch near here. They said they had stopped to raid the patch, and gorging themselves, they fell asleep.

Family Education

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The morning alarm clock is more than just a signal to "rise and shine" for the Rev. Leslie E. Lewis of Lincoln. It serves as a school bell for the entire Lewis family. The Rev. Mrs. Lewis, his wife Laura and daughter, Allie Bett, all are students at Nebraska Wesleyan University. A second daughter, Ellen, attends grade school. The Rev. Mr. Lewis is a retired Navy officer who felt the urge to preach while in uniform. Besides attending school, he serves as pastor of Wesley Methodist Church and aims to earn a Doctor's Degree. Mr. Lewis, a registered nurse, is bent on a Master's Degree in religious education.

THEY ALSO SERVE — These three young people have already, or will shortly, give one of their kidneys to save the life of their seriously ill identical twins represented by the reflections in the mirror. Left to right are Ronald McDuffie of Okeechobee, Fla., Doris Huskey of DeSoto, Mo., who has already given a kidney, and Jerry Foster of Pocatello, Idaho. The twins are at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston. The surgery, which has been successful in six previous cases, is possible only in the case of identical twins. It involves a transfer of a kidney from one twin to the other and is necessary when both kidneys of an individual are infected with nephritis, a disease which is nearly always fatal.

Potent Potato

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Howard Hurst has a recipe for splattered potatoes. She baked several potatoes for dinner. At the table, she speared one for her husband and another for her son. Then she speared a third potato. Pop! By chance, the peel contained more steam than potato. The steam spurted every way and ditto for the potato.

Amendments 5 and 6 .

Editor, The Freeman,

Your newspaper has wisely and helpfully printed the text of each of the Amendments on which the voters are to decide next Tuesday. I should appreciate your publishing our brief summary of Amendments 5 and 6 which so vitally affect our New York State Conservation and Forestation future.

A YES vote for No. 5 will permit sale of small and scattered parcels of land all outside the Catskill and Adirondack Parks. The moneys from the sale of such properties will be used to acquire other lands within the Forest Preserve.

A YES vote for No. 6 will allow carefully restricted relocation and improvement of existing State highways within the Forest Preserve. This amounts to a safety measure.

The Forest Preserve is one of our local treasures. Let us do anything possible to enhance its greatness.

Yours very sincerely,
KATHERINE S. JOHNSON

Water Diversion Hearing Off Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counsel for the New York State Power Authority have a week's respite to prepare for cross-examination of witnesses in a Federal Power Commission hearing on the Niagara Falls power project.

The hearing on the question of diverting water to the 600-million-dollar project was adjourned yesterday.

It will resume Nov. 6, when power authority counsel will cross-examine witnesses presented by the city of Niagara Falls and other municipalities that oppose the power authority's diversion plans.

The municipalities are seeking FPC approval of their proposal that water be diverted through tunnels to the project generators. The power authority wants the diversion accomplished through a system of covered conduits and an open canal. The FPC must de-

Painter May See Again With Eye Of Other Painter

BUFFALO (AP) — A 28-year-old Pennsylvania house painter may regain his sight in one eye because a house painter in Niagara Falls, N. Y., was injured in a hunting accident 18 years ago.

The Niagara Falls house painter, Robert Walker, 64, lost his injured left eye this week in an operation at the Veterans Hospital here and donated the still healthy cornea to the Buffalo eye bank. The loss was the result of a shooting accident in 1939.

Robert Weidner of Gardner, Pa., who gradually lost his sight from scarred corneas, was given the healthy cornea in an operation at the Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia yesterday.

The two men do not know each other and Walker did not know when he donated his cornea to the eye bank that it would go to another house painter.

Doctors at Wills Hospital said it would be some time before it was known whether Weidner would be able to see again.

Weidner, father of an 8-year-old boy, has not been able to work for at least seven months because of his blindness.

Walker was a house painter and painting supervisor until his retirement two years ago.

According to eye bank records here, Walker is the first living person in this area to donate an eye for transplantation.

"Fidelio" was Beethoven's only opera.

Guardsmen Stay At Prison to Protect Inmates

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sources close to Parchman State Penitentiary have indicated that National Guardsmen called nine days ago are remaining on duty to prevent possible vengeance toward convicts who testified against William A. Wetzel.

Comment Refused

All official sources, including Gov. J. P. Coleman, refused to comment, however, on the possibly delicate situation that came to light yesterday.

Newsmen turned up a proclamation by Coleman dispatching the guardsmen to the penitentiary on Oct. 22.

There was no reference to Wetzel in the proclamation but Eph Creswell, Coleman's executive secretary, said "issuance of that proclamation has to do with developments in the Wetzel case. There will be no further comment."

Indications Coleman clamped down on any news about the guardsmen at Parchman were backed up by Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, adjutant general of the guard, and Supt. Bill Harpole of the penitentiary.

Both officials had no comment. Other official sources followed suit.

Upstate Native

Wetzel, 34-year-old native of Seneca Falls, N. Y., is awaiting a new execution date, which is expected to be set within a few weeks.

He has won repeated postponements of his execution on grounds he was convicted of murder on perjured testimony. The U. S. Supreme Court earlier this month turned down what may have been a final appeal of his case.

The state patrol said last fall that threats of bodily harm were made against a key witness against Wetzel and Minor Sorber in the 1953 knife slaying of a fellow convict. Sorber, an Ohio thug, was executed last year.

Religion in Young Soviets

NEW YORK (AP)—A three-year study, just completed, finds that "religious sentiment is not only widespread among the younger Soviet generation, but on the increase." Dr. Ivan D. London, of Brooklyn College's psychology department, reported this conclusion after extensive research, involving hundreds of interviews in London with Soviet emigres. The project was financed by the Inwood Institute and the Dearborn foundation.

Pumpkin Soup Is Novel Touch for Thanksgiving

PUMPKIN SOUP adds a novel touch to the Thanksgiving dinner, and should be served with a few white kernels of corn.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This year let's make our Thanksgiving dinner a little different. Pumpkin, as usual, but not in a pie.

Pumpkin Soup (8 servings)

One (1-lb. 13-oz.) can (3 cups) pumpkin, 1 (10½-oz.) can condensed tomato soup, 4 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Combine ingredients in saucepan; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thoroughly heated.

Celery Soup With Caraway (8 servings)

Two cups finely diced celery, 1 quart water, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 small onion, chopped, 2/3 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon caraway seeds.

Combine celery and 2 cups of the water in a saucepan; bring to a boil. Cook until celery is tender, about 30 minutes. Melt butter in top of double boiler; saute onion in butter until tender. Remove from pan. Pour remaining water into top of double boiler; sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder, flour, salt and caraway seeds over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Add onion. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Add celery and liquid.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pumpkin soup with popcorn garnish, broiled ham steak, mustard cream gravy, parsley boiled potatoes, quick-cooked cabbage, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, fresh fruit cup, cookies, coffee, tea milk.

'Fair Lady' Road Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Traveling show business is far from dead —at least when the show is "My Fair Lady." A report just issued on the first six months' activity of the national company of the smash musical which is also still playing to capacity on Broadway — shows a boxoffice gross of some 2½ million dollars. Visiting nine cities, the musical averaged weekly receipts of $94,154. This, the backers proclaim, is "an average well above and beyond that of any song-and-dance show that has ever scoured the nation."

About 250,000 barrels of oil reserves have been found for each new well completed in California during the past 15 years.

"FEVER CHART" SHOWS BOMB SPEED-UP—The accelerating rate at which the three nations who possess nuclear bombs (the U.S., U.S.S.R. and Britain) are testing new ones is indicated in Newschart above. Since the first explosion in the Nevada desert in June, 1945, some 134 bombs have been set off. The number is probably larger, since actual total of Soviet explosions has not been published. Since the first thermonuclear, or hydrogen, explosions in 1952, 107 detonations—both A and H-bombs—have taken place. This year has seen 42 nuclear blasts, more than double the number in any other year since the beginning of the Atomic Age. The total for 1957 may be even greater, for Russia is expected to make more tests before the end of the year.

Ogdensburg Cites Air Service Need For Seaway Gains

ALBANY (AP) — The city of Ogdensburg says it needs permanent air service if it is to "take and reap the benefits of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

Eric C. Gordon, representing the Ogdensburg city government, asked yesterday at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing that temporary service now in effect be made permanent.

Hearing Continues

The hearing on local commercial airline service within the northeastern part of the country continued here today. On Friday it shifts to Washington.

The Tri-City Municipal Authority of Westmoreland County, Pa., proposed new or additional air service to offset what it said were location disadvantages. The agency said there was "difficulty of surface access to many communities" in the county because of the mountainous terrain.

The Westmoreland authority comprises the cities of Latrobe, Greensburg and Jeannette in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Gene McDonald, an attorney representing the authority, said an airport was to be constructed and that the county and tri-city area had a commercial potential that made it "a natural hub of local service air carrier activity."

He said there should be services with Harrisburg, Philadelphia, New York, Washington, D. C., Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio.

Asks More Flights

Wesley Van Benschoten, secretary of the Dutchess County Airport Commission, said that, in addition to present service, there should be flights from that airport to Boston, Utica-Rome, Syracuse and Rochester.

The Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission was scheduled but did not appear at yesterday's hearing.

'Cultured' Thug Robs Blood Bank

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A "cultured gunman, who was careful not to point his weapon at a lady attendant, last night robbed the community blood bank of four pints of blood.

"I won't hurt you my dear," the robber told Billie Evelyn Miller when he entered the Spokane blood bank. "Just don't be frightened. Do what I tell you."

She said the man, who appeared "very calm and sweet," held a small pistol in his hand when he approached the counter where she was typing blood samples.

"I'd like to have five units (pints) of low titer type O neg (negative) blood," the gunman said politely and in technically correct language.

Miss Miller replied there were only four pints of such blood in stock at the bank and the man said he'd take them. After getting the blood, the man asked for four administration sets — hookups of plastic tubes, filters and needles used for giving the blood.

The robber gathered up his strange loot and walked calmly from the building, warning Miss Miller not to watch which way he went.

"Now stay in here," he told her on leaving. "Don't come to the door and I won't hurt you."

Drastic Measures

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—Magistrate Edward Moore figured John Lee, 68, was a little drastic in his action to move a fellow roomer's car that blocked his doorway. He found Lee guilty and sentenced him to 15 days in jail for attempting to set the car on fire and trying to attack it with an ax.

Here — in four incomparable new models — is the greatest Continental of them all.

As you would expect, the new Mark III has advanced new features: a retractable rear window, for example, in all models including the convertible.

It has uncommon luxury: exemplified by leathers imported from Bridge of Weir, Scotland. And in the Continental tradition, the engine is so smooth you can balance a coin on the hood.

And because this car is built in the newest, most modern automobile plant in the world, with the highest standards of craftsmanship, the Continental Mark III is now priced just slightly above the fine car field.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained higher in moderate trading early this afternoon as prospects of additional defense spending continued to spur aircrafts.

Coppers also continued their recovery and rails moved ahead a bit.

Some profit-taking was in evidence as the current rally stretched into its third day.

Statements from Washington were regarded as encouraging. The news that the rigid ceilings recently imposed on key contractors for aircrafts had been scrapped helped the aircrafts. It followed President Eisenhower's statement yesterday that the 38-billion-dollar ceiling for defense spending will be exceeded.

Steels, oils, some chemicals and motors joined in the advance.

United Aircraft trimmed an early rise of around 2 but remained ahead by more than a point. Du Pont and Amerada were among 2-point gainers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up $1.00 to $159.10 with the industrials up $1.70, the rails up 70 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Mennen Official Denies Action Against Unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Mennen, production vice president of the Mennen Co. testified today his company has never "been party to a payoff' and never connived with Nathan W. Shefferman against labor unions.

He gave his testimony before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, exploring in a public hearing what happened after the Mennen Co. hired Shefferman's firm known as Labor Relations Associates in 1951 and 1953.

The committee's chief counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, calls Shefferman a union buster.

Won't Call Governor

Kennedy announced in advance of the hearing that Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, a vice president and stockholder in the Mennen Co., would not be asked to testify because, he said, Williams had no part in the incidents under scrutiny.

Williams, serving his fifth term as Michigan governor, is a cousin of Mennen.

Reading from a prepared statement, Mennen related to the senators that a strike was called against the Morristown, N. J., company by the AFL United Auto Workers Local No. 102 in 1951. This local was run by racketeer Johnny Dio, now serving a jail sentence.

Rejected Proposal

Mennen said a "Mr. Zachman," the titular head of the local, and "one or two others" called Mennen and some other people from the company to a west side Manhattan hotel and there "suggested that a payment of around $15,000 would result in a settlement" of the local's strike.

"We promptly rejected the proposal and left the conference," Mennen said. "My answer is that this suggestion of a payoff, although clearly recognized to us as such, was merely a thinly veiled suggestion and something that could not have been proved.

"I mention this now because I want the committee to know everything that we know about the events under discussion."

Joint Action Is Advocated Here To Aid Retailing

Cooperative group action to meet present day competition and changing shopping habits were advocated by Leo Nejelski and James C. Scully at a meeting of local retailers at the Court House here Wednesday night. Clyde Wonderly, acting chairman of the recently formed Retail Merchant's Council, presided.

Nejelski and Scully are marketing development counsellors with offices in New York City. They pointed out that with modern transportation and highways, competition is no longer between stores of any given community but with distant cities and shopping centers.

The meeting was very informal and those present asked many questions about how other communities meet their retail problems. It was decided to have another meeting within a week or 10 days of all merchants interested in developing a cooperative program, elect permanent officers and adopt a program.

Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, reported that 4,294 completed shopping survey forms have been turned over to the State Department of Commerce for tabulation. All merchants indicated a keen interest in this survey to be prepared by the staff of the New York State Department of Commerce. Kurdt stated that the nearly 4,300 families represented by the survey report, are three times the number returned in 1950 when the last survey was taken.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jenny Hecht, who used to be a child actress on Broadway, finds growing up can cause career problems. Still in her early teens, she was signed a while back for a role in "The Rope Dancers." Milk Strike Is Averted by Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—Milk industry negotiators reached tentative agreement today in a contract dispute which threatened the milk supplies of 14 million persons.

The agreement was reached shortly after dawn by negotiators for five locals of the Teamsters Union and milk pasteurization and distribution firms.

Terms Not Given

Terms of the pact were not immediately announced.

A joint statement by union and management said they had come to a "full agreement" on a new contract "except for a few language differences" which were expected to be settled tomorrow.

Management spokesmen have said any increased labor cost in the new contract would bring a rise in the retail price of milk.

The settlement was announced a little more than three hours after an 11-hour strike by 6,000 milk drivers and pasteurization plant workers in New York City and on Long Island had been called off.

A management spokesman said the effects of the brief strike would be negligible.

As the 6,000 members of one of the five teamster locals were called out on strike at 4 p. m. yesterday, the remaining 7,000 drivers and plant workers in the tri-state metropolitan area were held on the job by their unions.

Two Extensions

The strike deadline for all of the 13,000 workers had been extended twice. And a third deadline passed at 4 p. m. Monday without a formal notice of extension.

The settlement affects supplies of milk and other dairy products in all of New York City, Long Island and suburban Westchester and Rockland counties in New York, northern New Jersey down to Trenton, and part of nearby Fairfield County, Conn.

Union negotiators decided early today to accept a management proposal that the strikers go back to work while the negotiations continued.

The latest announcement on the union's scaled-down demands was a $9.50 a week wage-benefits package, with the employers offering $6.10. Present wages range from $76.50 to $112.50 a week.

SUMMIT LAKE, Wis. (AP)—It will take more than a highway bypass to sidestep Summit Lake, a determined hamlet of about 100 population. The business district is being moved, building by building, to a site two blocks away along the newly rerouted U. S. 45, which bypasses the old shopping center.

Record 6,363,000

Nassau has 590,557 registered this year, an increase of 178,376 over 1955, 110,518 over 1953, and 78,445 over record 1952. It's 5,000 higher than the 1956 presidential year.

Broome, Monroe and Schenectady counties, all with PPR, show sharp increases in registration. In Broome, 88,247 are registered, up 11,904 from 1955 and 2,568 from four years ago, when a mayor was last elected in the city of Binghamton.

Rochester is the hub of Monroe County, where 249,889 are registered. This is 14,630 more than in 1955 and 18,742 over 1953.

A total of 187,258 is registered in Onondaga County. This is up 31,432 from 1955 and 2,000 from 1953, when the city of Syracuse last elected a mayor. Registration is down in the city, however.

In Oneida County, including the cities of Utica and Rome, the 107,552 registration is up 8,000 over 1955 and 2,000 over 1953. Both cities elect municipal governments every two years.

PAL NIKI—All appeared to be sweetness and light between Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Georgi Zhukov when this picture was taken in Moscow last June, just after Niki had won a dramatic victory over his foes—with a reportedly big assist from Zhukov. Perhaps now, the Red Army hero wishes Russian scientists had invented a Little Wonder Mind-Reading Machine. If he could have probed the thoughts bubbling behind the wily Khrushchev's inscrutable face, he might not have had that big smile on his own.

TOOTHLESS TOREROS—To tell the "tooth" about it, six-year-old twins Charles and Peter Bane aren't really bullfighters despite the matador costumes they are modeling. The twins wore the costumes at a fashion show in Chicago. The youngsters got to keep the bull-fighting regalia, but they'll probably have to wait until Christmas, naturally, for their missing front teeth.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Robert Conway dug up a diamond valued at $225 in his Lansing garden. Conway said he had no idea where it came from.

Creeping Catastrophe

200 Acres, 156 Homes Sliding Toward Pacific

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. (AP)—Man has tried—and failed—in an elaborate scheme to stop 200 slippery acres of this scenic community from carrying 156 homes slowly seaward.

The homes are on a layer of land, shaped roughly like a slice of bread, which for more than 15 months has been gliding toward offshore Catalina Island at the rate of nearly an inch a day.

Home Values Drop

A puzzling movement that investigating geologists say is unique in their experience, it has brought creeping catastrophe to scores of families in the slide area. Nearby residents also have suffered loss from declining property values.

All but half a dozen of the 156 homes have been damaged, 40 so severely they have had to be evacuated. Six have been moved from the area and many others will be.

The movement began, almost unnoticeably, in August of 1956. When it failed to stop within a few months, as expected, Los Angeles County agreed to try checking it with caissons—pins of concrete and steel, 20 feet long and 4 feet in diameter.

The idea was to stop it as you could stop a slice of bread from sliding down an inclined plane by stocking pins through it.

The big caissons were set in holes dug at strategic locations in the slide area, with the bottom 10 feet in stable earth, the top 10 in the moving layer. This layer varies in thickness from 50 to 150 feet, so the caissons were buried deep out of sight.

Admits Failure

The last of 15 pins were set Aug. 12 at a total cost of $50,000. And now the county has admitted at last that they are a failure.

The movement continues at only a slightly diminished rate, according to county figures. Engineers say the caissons, each designed to withstand a million pounds of pressure without cracking, presumably tilted instead of holding.

Today, no one will even guess when the slide will halt. And no one has expressed willingness to put up the more than two million dollars it would take to try another possible remedy—dumping rock at the bottom of the slide to check it.

MR. AND MRS. VOTER:

These Are the Reasons Why Ulster County Is Republican

In the week preceding election day it is the time-honored practice of the local Democratic party to make extravagant critical statements levelled at the incumbent Republican County Administration. It is also the custom for its candidates, during this same season, to promise the moon, if not "sputnick". Epithets, too, are hurled in shotgun fashion and in all directions.

Having no responsibility for the Administration of County government they (The Democrats) can, with comparative ease, challenge, on the most specious grounds, every Republican accomplishment. By the same token, they can seek to curry favor with every dissident group by mouthing vague generalities and idle promises.

Long-time residents of Ulster County are familiar with this local, although somewhat outmoded, Democratic strategy and have, from long experience, learned to discount it. But in the past few years our county has experienced a tremendous population growth. Many new residents, unfamiliar with past local history, may be disposed to put some credence in these irresponsible statements of the opposition.

It is for the benefit of the newcomers that we set forth, hereafter, a detailed record of the accomplishments of the incumbent Republican County Administration. Our appeal is directed to the mass of sincere voters, irrespective of party, who honestly want to know whether there are good reasons for the successive election of Republican Administrations in Ulster County. The record, hereafter outlined, will we believe, prove conclusively to those disposed to be objective about the matter, that there are really very many good reasons for the continuance of County Republican Administrations.

The County Welfare Department

One of the largest county departments is that dealing with public welfare. It is concerned with the plight of the orphan, the aged, the infirm and the indigent. The annual budget of this Department is approximately $1,930,000.00 a good portion of which is reimbursable from federal and state-aid. Since the state pays a large share of the cost of county welfare, its activities are subject to close scrutiny and audit by State officials (who, incidentally, are all presently part of the Democratic Harriman Administration).

To demonstrate the efficiency of Ulster County's Welfare Department we prefer to quote from reports made with respect to it by the State Department of Social Welfare because such reports coming from a Democratic source cannot be considered "politically tainted", at least in favor of a Republican administration.

In a report dated August 31, 1954, State Department of Social Welfare wrote Ulster County's Commissioner as follows:

> "We are pleased to report that your staff's work demonstrated a good knowledge of the basic phases and practices governing public assistance administration" and then the report added:

> "We wish to commend you on the success of your agency's conscientious efforts to serve the welfare recipient and the community as efficiently as possible."

In a later report dated June 27, 1957, the same State Department again commended Ulster County's Welfare Commissioner and, on this occasion, the tribute was for his good operation of the Ulster County Infirmary at Kingston. On this subject the State Department of Social Welfare said:

> "This is a well run institution in which ninety-six persons are receiving good care and attention in very pleasant surroundings. All appeared to be as comfortable as possible. Staff has stabilized and seem to be interested in the work of the infirmary and in the individuals cared for."

Such praise, from a State Democratic Administration must, indeed, be deserved. Although a book could be written on the accomplishments of our County Welfare Department, nothing more need be added.

The County Health Department

This, too, is a large county agency. Under its jurisdiction is the Ulster County Tumor Clinic (one of the few county cancer detection clinics in the state), a Division of Environmental Sanitation, the TB Hospital, the County Nursing Service and many other public health activities.

Through the foresight of the Board of Supervisors, the County Tumor Clinic was established a few years ago in order to provide, at the local level, an efficient and modern means for the prompt detection and treatment of that dread disease, cancer. It is equipped with the most modern and up-to-date facilities. Experts from the Memorial Hospital in New York City are at the clinic weekly for consultation and trained clinical staff is in constant attendance. Members of the Ulster County Medical Society make daily use of the clinic's facilities. By establishing and maintaining such a well equipped clinic, and on such a high plane, our County officials have again proven their genuine concern for true public welfare.

The County Nursing Service, too, performs an important local health function. The visiting nursing service it provides, affords nursing care at home to those who cannot afford private nursing care, and a nursing staff for health clinics strategically located throughout the County.

The manifold duties of the Sanitation Service of the Department, include annually checking the sewage, sanitation and water supply facilities at 1200 summer camps and hotels in the county; checking on food and milk supplies sold to the public; prescribing and checking on sanitation, water and other facilities that must be installed by real estate developers; checking on pollution of streams and public swimming pools; and divers other routine sanitation work. Recently, this division was called upon to devise plans and engineering data necessary for obtaining emergency sources of water supply at Highland in the Town of Lloyd and at Kerhonkson in the Town of Wawarsing. The Supervisor of one of these towns is a Democrat and he was lavish in his praise of the work done by the department in his town. Again, praise from a Democratic source.

The County Clerk

In the four years between 1952 and 1956, the work of our County Clerk, Lawrence Craft, has greatly increased with the growth of population and the volume of real estate transactions. For example, the annual number of deeds recorded increased from 4877 in 1952, to 6918 in 1956; the number of mortgages from 4814 in 1952 to 6185 in 1956; the number of motor vehicle registrations and licenses increased from 38,000 in 1952 to 47,000 in 1956. The volume of recordings of other instruments such as mechanics liens, judgments, court orders, etc., increased proportionately. In dollar volume, the amount collected for mortgage taxes increased from $91,570.00 in 1952 to $155,110.00 in 1956; in automobile registration fees from $850,000.00 in 1952 to $1,110,000 in 1956; in the County's share of recording fees from $33,220.00 in 1952 to $59,765.00 in 1956.

Despite this tremendous increase in volume, the County Clerk has only added four clerical assistants to his staff in four years. He has managed to keep abreast of the increased volume by the installation of modern business machines and recording devices. For his achievement, Mr. Craft has received high praise from all quarters. He is a candidate for re-election and his outstanding record merits voter approval.

The County Highway Department

The County Highway Department is administered by a Superintendent appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

Population growth; increased volume of motor vehicles; and other factors, induced the Board of Supervisors in 1956 to embark on a comprehensive bridge program which embraces the construction of many new and the reconstruction of many existing County bridges. One such bridge is under construction in the Town of Ulster, another in the Town of Kingston, another in the Town of Marbletown and a contract is about to be let for a new bridge over the Malpby Hollow Stream in the Town of Olive. Other bridges in other parts of the county will follow in regular sequence. A new bridge at Mt. Marion in the Town of Saugerties was recently completed.

In keeping with present-day needs, the county highway design standards have been improved. For example, pavement widths have been increased, wider shoulders provided, and longer sight-distances established.

Ulster County has 417 miles of County Roads and 270 miles of State Roads. Snow from both County and State Roads is removed by the County's highway department. In the case of State roads, the snow is removed by the County under annual contract with the State. Our Highway Department has an outstanding reputation for its efficiency in the removal of snow. The State Department of Public Works (under Democratic political control) has annually renewed its contracts with the County for the removal of snow from State Highways.

The efficiency of highway repair work has been improved by the acquisition of modern machinery and equipment. On a seasonal basis this volume has increased 100% in the past few years. This is merely another example of efficiency.

But not only has the efficiency of our highway department work been increased in a physical way. The esprit de corp of its personnel has been kept at a high level. Within the past month the County Superintendent of Highways received a citation from the Ulster County Chapter of the State Civil Service Employees Association in which that organization, by formal resolution, declared that it:

> "publicly expresses its gratitude and appreciation of the high morale which is enjoyed by the employees of his department and of his conscientious effort to foster good employee relationships through a fair and impersonal administration."

Certainly "a fair and impersonal administration" of "employee relationships" is hardly the hallmark of a political "machine".

The Sheriff's Department

The Sheriff's department, too, has been the recipient of laudatory comments from non-political sources. For example, the March 1957 Ulster County Grand Jury, bipartisan in composition, after inspection of the Sheriff's Department and the County Jail, which is under his jurisdiction, had this to say:

> "We have made the usual and customary visit and inspection of the Ulster County Jail and are perfectly satisfied with the manner in which things are conducted there. We have found everything to be in good order and there are no recommendations which we desire to make in regard to the Jail at this particular time."

General Matters of County Concern

(a) MENTAL HEALTH

Aware of the need for providing a mental health service, on the county level, the Board of Supervisors recently took the first step toward making provision for it by appointing a County Mental Health Board.

(b) COMMUNITY COLLEGE

With the assistance of local civic groups the Board of Supervisors has recently appointed a committee to study and report upon the feasibility of establishing, with state aid assistance, a Community College for Ulster County.

(c) SOCIAL SECURITY FOR COUNTY EMPLOYEES

During 1957, the Board of Supervisors, by action taken by it, made it possible for all county employees in the State Retirement System to become eligible for social security. Up to that time, such employees were barred from social security benefits.

(d) SAFETY PRACTICES

By a strict insistence by all Department heads on safety practices among their employees, injuries to county employees and accidents involving county vehicles and premises were greatly reduced. This policy not only had its human side, but also its practical aspects. As a result of it, the county this year received from the State Insurance Fund (controlled by the Democratic Harriman administration) a special citation for a low-accident rate among its employees. As a practical result, the County will receive a 12% refund of its compensation insurance premium. In dollars, this amounts to $5,500.00.

For its good accident experience, in the operation of all county vehicles the county will receive refunds of 58% of its premiums on vehicles and 49% on premises coverage. Dollar-wise this refund will amount to $12,000.

Thus, for good experience ratings, the county will receive total insurance refunds of $17,500.00. Again, the keynote is efficiency and good administration.

Conclusion

We believe that the foregoing record, which could be greatly elaborated, conclusively demonstrates that Ulster County, under a Republican Administration, has been well and efficiently managed. Our public officials have conducted their respective offices with credit to themselves, their county and their party. In all aspects of our complex county government, modern business-like methods have been followed. Our officials are experienced men who know their jobs. They deserve, on the basis of the record, to be returned to office.

Minnesota Areas Hit By Power Failure

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A power failure today plunged Minneapolis-St. Paul and a section of southern Minnesota into virtual paralysis.

Traffic semaphores quit working, communications were disrupted, radio and television stations went off the air, newspaper publication was delayed, and hospitals were forced to depend on emergency power units.

Many hospitals switched on emergency generators for operating room purposes, heating and lighting.

All available police manpower was sent to congested areas to direct traffic, but motorists in many cases had to set up their own stop-and-go system.

The failure was the most extensive in the Twin Cities in at least 25 years.

The failure was caused by an explosion at Northern States Power Co.'s Black Dog plant south of here at 8:35 a. m. No one was injured. A company spokesman said it was presumed a boiler exploded.

Grounded!

SWANS ISLAND, Maine (AP) —At 81, Mrs. Mamie Torrey has had to stop motorbiking around this Maine coast island. A spell of rheumatism bothered Mrs. Torrey so much this summer that she sold the motor scooter her grandson bought for her more than a year ago. But she won't be content to stay off the island roads. Now, she's hoping to save enough money to buy "one of them electric cars."

CONCRETE CONVEYORS — Women workers carry pans of concrete on their heads for the construction of a bridge at Durgapur, an eastern Indian area being industrialized.

Southeast Drought Third Driest Ever

ALBANY (AP)—This year is the third driest on record for the Hudson Valley area of Southeastern New York.

The area has had below-average precipitation every month so far this year, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported yesterday.

The drought on Long Island was serious also but not quite so severe, the bureau said.

Abundant precipitation has soaked Western New York and the Catskill Mountains. Rain and snow fall were somewhat less in Northern New York and the Mohawk Valley.

Insufficient rain and snow and a rapid runoff of snow last February resulted in the Hudson Valley's third driest growing season in the 68 years the weather bureau has kept records. The other arid years were 1900 and 1913.

Whiskey and Water

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP)—When Willie Lash Jr. fell off the water wagon it was rough on the fish bait house. Lash ran a city water wagon into the fish bait house operated by Mrs. Iva Barrow, wrecking the bait house. Lash went to jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

SHOOTING FOR RECORD — S/Sgt. Shelman Angain, of Fayetteville, Ark., demonstrates an M-3 submachine gun equipped with a gunsight movie camera with a three-inch lens. The camera, which accurately records effectiveness of ground fire against low-flying aircraft, is being tested as part of Operation Textbook, at Fort Ord, Calif. The Army's Combat Development and Experimentation Center, at Fort Ord, is running extensive tests to attempt to determine what tactics and weapons it will take to fight a future war.

LaMarca Counsel Goes to Supreme Court for Stay

OSSINING (AP)—Counsel for kidnaper-killer Angelo LaMarca, 31, turned to the U. S. Supreme Court today in an effort to save him from the Sing Sing Prison electric chair.

LaMarca is doomed to die next Thursday night for stealing and slaying infant Peter Weinberger of Westbury on July 4, 1956.

The State Court of Appeals recently declined to hear a re-argument of an appeal for LaMarca of Nassau County.

Joseph Lonardo, LaMarca's counsel, then asked Justice Stanley Fuld for a stay to permit the case to be taken to the Supreme Court. Justice Fuld denied the request. Lonardo is now maneuvering for a stay from the Supreme Court to permit an appeal to that court.

Named for Him

Rabbit Ear Mountain, northeastern New Mexico, was named after a Cheyenne Indian chief, called Rabbit Ears, because his ears had been frozen during a particularly severe winter in the 19th century. The chief was killed in battle and is buried on the mountain.

Matter of FACT

Lacrosse, the oldest known game on the American continent, was invented by the Indians long before America was discovered by white men. For the Indians, who called the game "baggataway," it was more of a training exercise for battle than a game. Tribes played against each other for hours at a time, with hundreds of men on each side and a field often more than half a mile long. The French named it "Lacrosse" because the stick used in playing resembled a bishop's crosier.

Life master Ronald Wolf writes, "We are planning to run regular duplicate games in Mattoon in the near future. Do you think a population of 18,000 will produce enough enthusiasm?"

Ronald included a hand from this summer's nationals about which he states, "I bid too much but I usually do and the six diamond contract wasn't too bad.

"West opened the jack of clubs. East took his ace and played the queen. I was in the lead with the king and drew trumps. Three rounds of hearts came next and I had a count on the East hand. He had started with seven clubs (West would have opened low from three to the jack), one heart and three diamonds. Hence, he held exactly two spades.

"Percentage would favor a spade finesse against West but East had given the decided impression of a man who was happy throughout the whole play. West, on the other hand, looked and acted worried and had had great difficulty finding a discard on the third trump lead. He had finally pulled out a heart when he had hearts coming out of his ears and could have spared one handily.

"While there was nothing unethical in West's play I still decided that he was trying to give me the impression of strength and that if he held that queen of spades he would not have been so worried. Hence, I played dummy's ace and king of spades and dropped East's queen."

Here's hoping that Ronald has as much success with his Mattoon duplicates as he had with this slam.

Negroes on Broadway

Producer David Merrick requested that at least five be hired for the show starring Lena Horne and Ricardo Montalban.

The stagehands union adopted a non-discrimination policy when AFL and CIO units were merged several years ago, but Negro groups have worked only on non-Broadway productions.

Dems Boost GOP

AUBURN (AP)—The local Democratic party, in printed cards sent out yesterday, urges: "On Tuesday, Nov. 5, vote Row A all the way."

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alfred Glancy before a Nuptial Mass at St. Joseph's Church.

A fitted bodice, full skirt and bouffant side panels coffed with pearls and sequins completed the ensemble. Her headpiece consisted of a double crown of seed pearls and tulle which secured a French illusion fingertip veil. She carried a white prayer book adorned with white orchids and pompons.

Her cousin, Mis Eleanor Cundiff of Albany served as maid of honor and wore a gown of emerald green crepe fashioned with petal neckline, full skirt with semi-bustle back. She wore a band of bronzed autumn leaves fashioned with a large back bow matching the gown.

Bridesmaids included sister of the bridegroom, Linda Iannone of Saugerties; cousin of the bride, Miss Kathryn Cundiff of Albany; Miss Lodema Ransom of Saugerties and Miss Martha Young.

The bridesmaids were attired in similar style as the honor attendant's gown in mint green sateen. They also wore bands of autumn leaves and carried cascades of yellow pompons and roses.

Brother of the bridegroom Joseph V. Iannone of Saugerties was the best man. Ushers included William Johnson, Arthur Stafford, and Angelo Staccio, cousin of the bridegroom and William Sell of Kingston, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 100 guests was held at Aiello's Restaurant, Kingston. Frank Vigna and his orchestra played music for dancing.

For the wedding journey to Washington, D. C., and through Virginia, the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a black and white tweed with black and white accessories.

Upon their return they will make their home at Hurley.

Children of Deceased or Disabled Veterans May Now Compete for Regents Scholarships

Children of deceased or disabled New York State veterans are eligible to compete for 100 Regents Scholarships for Children of Deceased or Disabled Veterans which will be available in 1958 according to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. Each of the scholarships entitles the holder to $450 a year, depending upon the length of the college course, for tuition or maintenance while in atendance in any approved college or university within the State of New York.

Mr. Shurter said that the Regents Scholarship Examination used in awarding the scholarships will be held on January 23, 1958, at approved secondary schools in the state. A candidate for this scholarship must file an application with the principal of his school and must complete and send by registered mail his application with supporting evidence to the Bureau of Examinations and Testing, State Education Department, Albany 1, New York before Jan. 11, 1958.

To qualify for the scholarship the candidate must be a resident of New York State, a graduate of an approved high school by June 1958, and the child of a deceased or disabled New York State veteran.

Assistance in securing necessary evidence of veteran status, copies of discharge papers and complete information concerning the rights and entitlements of children of deceased or disabled veterans may be obtained by contacting the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office at 32 Main Street, Kingston or any of the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

A RECEPTION WITH NO SERVANTS

Dear Mrs. Post: How can I serve approximately forty guests at a wedding reception which I am giving in my house for a young relative. We have no servants and will probably not be able to engage any for this occasion. What also is the typical decoration of the table?

Answer: You should not find it at all necessary to have anyone help you at a simple buffet. Put cakes and sandwiches and punch on the dining table with glasses grouped around the punch bowl, and the guests will very readily help themselves. They would do this even if you had half a dozen caterers' men. For typical table decorations—as much white as possible. White flowers, white wedding cake, white ice cakes, white and green, or white and gold china on a white damask tablecloth.

A Lone Civilian

Dear Mrs. Post: My son will graduate from Officers' Training School soon and plans to be married shortly afterwards. He and his bride-to-be would like to have a military wedding. My son has asked six of his fellow officers to be ushers. All will be in formal uniform. My son would like very much to have his brother as best man. He is a civilian. Would it be proper for him to take part since he will be the only one in civilian dress, or should my son choose someone in service to fill this position? Your advice will be appreciated.

Answer: As the best man is only seen standing with the groom, waiting for the bride to come up the aisle and during the ceremony, his civilian clothes will not spoil the picture of the wedding procession. On the other hand a lone civilian usher would look very strange.

A Godfather's Obligation

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to be the godfather for a friend's baby two weeks from this coming Sunday. I am told that I am supposed to send a corsage to the godmother the day of the christening. Will you please tell me if this is true?

Answer: There is no such requirement. You are, however, expected to give the baby a present which, if you can afford it, might be a silver mug or porringer.

DESIGN FOR SURVIVAL—Shown above is the result of five years' study of auto crashes by Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory of Buffalo and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. of Boston. Designed with the sole aim of eliminating the major causes of passenger injuries and fatalities in smashups, the car affords maximum safety to its occupants without sacrificing exterior styling. Innovations include centrally seated driver, lever system to replace steering wheel and column, padding, seat belts or yokes and roll-over bars above passengers. Note one "club-car" seat facing rear. Outside, shock-absorbing material is sandwiched between the bumpers. Telephone booth-type doors and reinforced frame prevent cave-ins of the sides in collisions. The car is experimental only and not intended for production.

Ave Gets Assurance

ALBANY . — Gov. Harriman was assured by the U. S. Defense Department today that New York State industry would be given "every consideration" in any step-up in the guided missile program.

The governor's office made public a letter to this effect from Perkins McGuire, assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics.

Harriman had written to Defense Secretary Neil McElroy on Oct. 11 expressing concern over unemployment on Long Island and in other areas of the state resulting from cutbacks and stretch-outs in aircraft production.

Makes Belly Landing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A big transcontinental airliner with crippled landing gear made a safe belly landing on a foam coated runway at International Airport today after more than an hour of suspenseful circling.

The craft made a perfectly smooth landing and skidded to a gentle stop after several low-flying passes.

A big crowd from administration buildings and surrounding aircraft plants burst into applause and cheers as the United Airlines DC7 with 11 passengers and a crew of five came safely down.

Gifted Bandits

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (AP) — Two well-dressed men entered a Hermosillo jewelry store and ordered 3,000 pesos worth of wrist watches, gift wrapped. The jeweler reported that when they returned, they flashed a pistol and walked out with the gaily wrapped package of watches.

Flu, Pneumonia Deaths in U.S. Up 28 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deaths from influenza and pneumonia increased by 28 per cent last week in the nation's large cities, as compared with the week before.

Reporting this today in its weekly summary of the Asian influenza situation, the U. S. Public Health Service said there were 1,187 more deaths from those diseases in 108 cities between Sept. 1 and Oct. 25 than there were last year.

Flu Impact Seen

There also had been 6,438 more deaths from all causes in 114 cities in the same period.

A health service spokesman said the number of excess deaths is a direct indication of the impact of Asian flu.

This spokesman also expressed the personal opinion there have now been more than six million flu cases in this country since early June.

The summary said the estimated death rate from flu and pneumonia in 108 cities for the week ended Oct. 26 was more than 2½ times that for the same week last year.

Simultaneously with release of the summary, two federal agencies announced intention to take prompt action if manufacturers make false or misleading claims that their drug products are effective in preventing or treating Asian flu.

The health service says inoculation with vaccine is the only reliable means of preventing influenza.

The Federal Trade Commission, which enforces the federal law against false advertising, and the Food and Drugs Administration, which has authority to proceed against false ineffective products and false labeling, issued separate statements.

The health service summary said deaths from all causes, and from flu and pneumonia specifically continued to rise last week in cities in all geographic areas except the mountain and Pacific states.

N.Y.C. at Peak

New York City, however, appeared to have reached its peak in numbers of deaths though they still ran ahead of last year.

There was no marked change last week in the occurrence of influenza and influenza-like diseases, the summary said.

Some states reported high absenteeism rates in schools not previously affected while others reported a decline in some schools and extension to others.

Increased absenteeism was noted in some industrial and employe groups, but in most instances this was not large.

No curtailment or crippling of essential community services has been reported.

A number of reports of flu complicated by encephalitis have been received. These included two cases in Colorado now recovering and three fatal cases now under investigation in New York State.

Seeks Blood Samples

U. S. South pole station, antarctica (AP)—An IGY scientist here has asked scientific and military personnel at the South Pole and six other U. S. Antarctic stations to collect blood samples from all forms of Antarctic life.

The blood will be used to check the possibility that it holds a clue to the cause or prevention of cancer.

This is a side project of E. W. "Moose" Remington, a glacier expert from Bethesda, Md. Remington believes Antarctic animals are free of cancer. He thinks there may be something in their blood to give researchers a new clue.

South, Southwest Hold Up

Football Attendance Drops in College Grid

Big Ten Figures Down Six Percent

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

College football attendance decreased in virtually every part of of the country except the South and Southwest during the first half of the 1957 season.

But the overall change was so small that it probably could be explained by a few schedules that put the more attractive games later in the season this year—or by uncertain alumni who tossed a coin to decide whether or not they should go to the game on a threatening day.

An Associated Press survey of September and October major college games showed today that 303 played this year drew 350,360 fewer spectators than 313 games by the same teams last season. On the basis of average attendance per game, that shows a decrease of 1.26 percent—about 300 persons a game.

Eastern Crowds Up

The Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Big Eight, Southwest and Border Conferences all marked up gains, ranging from 8.2 percent in the Southwest to 17.3 percent in Eastern independent colleges also showed a slight gain—1.2 percent — due principally to the Army-Notre Dame game, which pulled some 96,000 spectators into the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium.

The larger independents scattered through other sections, whose totals are influenced by two big drawing cards—Notre Dame and Miami of Florida — experienced an overall decline of 10.4 percent.

At this stage of the 1956 season, Notre Dame had played four home games before capacity crowds averaging over 59,000. This year the Irish have played at home only twice, against Indiana and Pitt, drawing 112,801 in all. Miami's home game attendance slipped by a total of about 6,400 for four games.

While the two big leagues of Southern football registered respectable attendance gains, the smaller Southern Conference suffered the biggest percentage of loss—19.3 percent.

Big Ten Declines

The mighty Big Ten, where Michigan can play before 101,001 spectators and Ohio State regularly draws around 80,000 for its home games, wound up with a 6.6 percent decline during the first half of the season. Attendance in the troubled Pacific Coast Conference dropped 6.1 percent and in the Skyline Conference 6.9 percent.

The schedules and some bad weather figured in these changes.

The attendance decline, if it continues to the end of the season, reverses the trend of the past few years. Final figures for college football last season showed an overall gain of about three percent over 1955.

Hershey Bears Boost Hockey Lead by Seven

By The Associated Press

The season still is young but the Hershey Bears rapidly are making shambles of the American Hockey League pennant race.

The once-beaten, once-tied Bears chalked up their eighth victory and increased their lead over second place Rochester to seven points with a 4-1 victory over the Cleveland Barons last night. It was the only game scheduled.

Mama Gets Competition

Nylon Girdle Hailed By the Football World

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK (AP) — Nowadays, when a football coach tells his players to gird for action, he means it — literally.

There's something new in college and professional football and if you haven't noticed, it's because you haven't been in a locker room lately.

What is it that's hailed by these hulking head-knockers as something close to a revolutionary innovation in the sport of brutes? Nothing else but—you should excuse the expression—a girdle.

Mama's got competition now, with those in the know claiming more than 90 per cent of today's weekend heroes encase themselves in the garment.

Witness this testimonial:

"They don't ride up, they hold in your stomach and they're washable."

Does Its Job

In case you're cocking a knowing eye at this point, let's hasten to assure that the two-way stretch serves a much more functional purpose than assisting in the bulge battle, although style plays a part.

The football girdle was developed by manufacturers to replace the bulky, uncomfortable leather, rubber and canvas pads players used to strap on to protect their hips.

The girdle, made of nylon and elastic, is much lighter—weighing only eight ounces or some five pounds less than hip pads—and furnishes just as much protection to body contact.

There are four slash pockets, two on each side, holding removable, lightweight hip and thigh pads. The result is that John Q. Player has much more maneuverability, a greater degree of comfort, and as much protection as well as making a stylish appearance.

Trends in Streamline

Equipment designers say the girdle came about as part of a nationwide trend to streamline football players. They went to work in answer to player complaints a decade or so ago about loose-fitting canvas pants, and heavy shoes, helmets, shoulder guards and jerseys.

They came up with skintight pants 75 per cent lighter than the old style trousers, almost weightless jerseys, half-cut lightweight shoes, narrower shoulder guards, and lighter more shock-resistant helmets.

There remained the problem of what to do with the hip and waist line, and one of mom's tricks provided the answer.

Lehigh Leads Lambert Poll

With another victory over a major foe, the Lehigh Engineers (5-0) have strengthened their hold on first place in the competition for the Lambert Cup, emblematic of small college football championship of the East.

Eleven of the twelve selectors voted the Bethlehem, Pa. squad top position. Undefeated Amherst, also 5-0, received the one other first-place vote.

Bill DeWitt Tribe Confer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30 (AP) — William O. (Bill) DeWitt, former assistant general manager of the Yankees and former owner and general manager of old St. Louis Browns, has "discussed" with the Cleveland Indians' executive committee the job of Tribe general manager.

The Cleveland News predicted today DeWitt would be appointed within ten days to succeed Hank Greenberg, who was recently fired.

Red Wing Pilot Defends Players On Poor Getaway

DETROIT (AP) — Jack Adams, whose Detroit Red Wings have been lustily booed almost ever since the National Hockey League season started, pleaded with the home fans today to "save your catcalls for me — don't take it out on a bunch of nice kids."

The veteran general manager, now in his 31st year with the Wings, said he is "disillusioned" at the reaction of the Detroit fans and said he would even wear a red hat "so they can give the hell to me."

Adams' comments were made prior to the Wings' 4-0 shutout of the second-place New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden last night. Detroit scored its fourth victory of the season while a close NHL cellar rival, last-place Toronto, was falling before league-leading Montreal, 6-2.

Rookie Sparkles

The slashing stick of rookie Don Poile brought the fifth-place Wings out of their slump and helped them to move to victory. Poile made the first goal and was followed by Gordie Howe a minute later. Alex Delvecchio added another in the second stanza and new defenseman Bucky Hollingsworth made the last in the third period.

The brothers Richard teamed to score three goals as the Montreal Canadiens took the measure of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago, in third place, and Boston, in fourth, were idle.

The Red Wings have dropped 5 of their first nine games — two of them to the Chicago Black Hawks — and most of the spectators are blaming Adams for trading away all-stars Ted Lindsay and goalie Glenn Hall. The loudest jerring came Sunday night when the fans got their first look at Lindsay and Hall in Chicago uniforms.

A Lousy Start

The Hawks came off with a 3-0 shutout after every Detroit player except winger Gordie Howe was booed during the player introductions. Tuesday night in Chicago the Hawks were a 1-0 winner.

"We're off to a lousy start, there's no denying it," said Adams.

"But I've been prouder of this team than I have of any of our championship outfits. This is a good bunch of youngsters and they don't deserve all this riding."

State Links Scheduled in Utica Area

NEW HARTFORD (AP)—An opening field of 128 golfers will play in the New York State Amateur Tourney July 23-27 in this suburb of Utica.

Defending champion Jack Veghte of Gloversville, an automatic qualifier, will be on hand at the Yahnundasis Country Club for the Men's Tournament, which will be all match play.

The State Golf Assn., at a meeting here yesterday, also set dates and places for two more of the four major tournaments it is sponsoring next year.

The Women's State Championship will be held July 15-18 at the Cooperstown Country Club. After an 18-hole qualifying round on the first day, it will revert to all match play.

The Women's Senior Tournament will be at the Oneonta Country Club Aug. 14 and 15 and will have two 18-hole rounds of medal play.

The date and site of the fourth tournament, a junior championship, were not decided.

Qualifying play for the State Amateur Tournament will be at nine sites throughout the state July 6-13.

The King Ranch in Texas plans to open a 5,000-acre tract to public hunting on a nominal fee basis.

Colts Keep NFL Lead in Rushing

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30, (AP) —National Football League today showed the Baltimore Colts leading for the third straight week in total yards gained.

The Colts have run up 1,753 yards—840 rushing, 913 passing —in five games.

Washington again was in second place with 1,676 yards, but New York moved up a notch to third place with 1,589 yards, a 26-yard lead over the Chicago Bears.

Fifth-place Los Angeles was leading in yards gained rushing. The Rams have run up 842, two yards more than Baltimore. However, the Colts continue to lead the league in passing department by a 17-yard margin over Washington.

Kansas Coach Throws in Towel

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Chuck Mather has thrown in the towel on four dismal years as football coach at the University of Kansas.

"The pressure is simply too great," he said last night in announcing he and his staff will withdraw at the end of the season. "We have no apologies for the time we've been at Kansas."

Mather didn't amplify his reference to pressure.

He brought a brilliant high school coaching record to Lawrence in 1954 but his Jayhawk teams have won only seven games, lost 26 and tied three. This season's record is 1-4-1.

It was Mather's first venture into college coaching. From 1937 to 1954 his high school teams in Ohio won 111, lost 18 and tied 5.

Speculation about a successor centered on Jack Mitchell, head football man at the University of Arkansas.

A Kansas spokesman pointed out the director of athletics, the Athletic Board and the Board of Regents all have a say on the hiring of a new coach. He indicated no immediate action will be taken.

Virgil Akins Ranked No. 2 In His Class

NEW YORK (AP)—Virgil Akins of St. Louis today was listed second among contenders for the world welterweight crown vacated by Basilio.

Monthly ratings by Ring Magazine placed Akins behind Isaac Logart of Cuba, who had been the No. 2 contender behind former champ Tony DeMarco of Boston. Akins knocked out DeMarco in the 14th round of a scheduled 15-rounder Tuesday in Boston to bring about the shuffled ratings. DeMarco now is third.

The right was recognized by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission as a title bout, but the National Boxing Assn., of which the Massachusetts body is a member; the European federation, and the World Committee accepted it only as an elimination.

Akins, who had been sixth in the division, also won the magazine's Fighter of the Month award.

Vince Martinez, Paterson, N. J.; Charley Smith, Los Angles, Calif.; Gil Turner, Philadelphia, and Gaspar Ortega, Mexico, are rated fourth through seventh, respectively in the division, and all are among those being mentioned to take part in eliminations for the welter crown.

There were also some changes among the heavyweights. Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson of New York continued to slip. Idle the past month, Jackson was dropped from fourth to fifth. He was replaced by Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex., who won a 10-round decision over Willie Besmanoff of Germany. Mike De John of Syracuse, first round knockout winner over Argentina's Alex Miteff, moved into eighth spot among the elite, while Miteff dropped from seventh to 10th.

Colgate Plans Passes Against Army Eleven

HAMILTON (AP) — The Colgate football team, which completed only 11 out of 39 passes in its last two contests, is limbering its aerial attack for Saturday's game with Army.

Coach Fred Rice, worried by the Red Raiders poor pass performance in their 12-10 victory over Princeton and 20-0 loss to Yale, ordered an hour-long passing drill yesterday.

Army and Colgate in 15th Meeting Saturday at Point

WEST POINT, Oct. 31—Colgate's unpredictable Red Raiders will invade Michie Stadium Saturday to do battle with Army. President Eisenhower will be among the expected sellout crowd of some 27,000.

Fans are wondering if the teams will duplicate the 101 points amassed last year. The Cadets won a 55-46 thriller, the highest scoring game in Army football history.

This marks the 15th meeting between the Cadets and Red Raiders. Army has dominated the series, which began in 1903, by winning 11 contests. The Maroon won 13-0 in 1915 and 14-7 in 1936 while the 1903 and 1906 games ended in scoreless ties.

Okay Physically

Coach Earl Blaik's Black Knights were forced to come from behind to nip Virginia 20-12. Physically Army will not be handicapped and Blaik plans on using the same starting lineup as he has announced for the last four games.

Coach Fred Rice of Colgate still has four question marks, all in his line. They are tackles Bill Morog and Ralph Antone, guard Joe Wignot and end Al Jamison. Jamison, the Raiders leading pass receiver, has been hindered by an ankle injury and seen only limited action. Last season he caught 10 passes for 119 yards and two touchdowns against the Army.

The Cadets' Bob Anderson ranked sixth in the nation this week on rushing with 510 yards on 75 carries, an average of 6.8 yards per try. The Army team was listed fifth in rushing offense with an average of 295.4 yards per game and tenth in total offense with an average of 373.6 yards per game.

Idun Wraps Up Two-Year Title In the Frizette

NEW YORK (AP)—The 2-year-old filly crown is wrapped up and ready for delivery to Idun, a smooth striding equine Miss owned by Mrs. Charles Ulrich Bay. And you can't fault the little daughter of Royal Charger if she tries on the 2-year old colt crown — just for size.

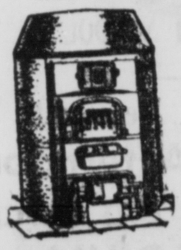

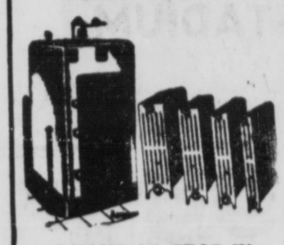

If there ever was any doubt as to the best juvenile filly in the land it was erased yesterday when Idun won the $89,650 Frizette Stakes at Jamaica for her eighth triumph in as many starts. And there are many who claim she is the best of the 2-year olds, regardless of sex.

The $58,475 she earned in the Frizette boosted her total earnings to $220,955—a new financial mark for 2-year old fillies. Top Flight held the old mark of $219,000, established in 1931 when she went through a seven-race season without a setback. Idun cost $63,000 at the yearling auctions last year.

Idun won so easily yesterday with a length and a half margin over Lopar at the measly odds of $2.20 for $2 that she appears to have any field of fillies at her mercy.

For jockey Bill Hartack it was his third big purse in 12 days. On Oct. 19 he won the Gardenia with Idun at Garden State Park and last Saturday he rode Nadir to victory in the Garden State Stakes at the same track. At the usual 10 per cent, Hartack collected in excess of $31,500.

The Frizette, with Idun turning in a 1:46 4-5 clocking for the 1 1-16 miles, also marked Hartack's 41st stake triumph.

Russia Captures The Pentathlon

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 30 (AP) — A Pole won the cross-country race, final event of the world pentathlon championships today, but Soviet Russia captured the team title and swept three first places in the individual standings.

Igor Novikov of Russia, the overall victor, finished fifth in the 4,000-meter cross-country event won by S. Przybylski of Poland in 14 minutes, 26.8 seconds. The other sports in pentathlon are riding, fencing, swimming and shooting.

Novikov won the individual title with 4,769 points. Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., finished ninth in the standings with 4,141 points; Richard Stoll, Philadelphia, was 19th with 3,825, and Richard Ellis, San Antonio, was 24th with 3,609.

In the team standings, Russia had 13,538 points. Finland was second with 12,173, and the United States fifth with 11,588.

DeMarco - Akins Rematch Slated

BOSTON (AP)—Another big pay night loomed for welterweights Virgil Akins and Tony De Marco today with agreement for a 15-round return bout either Jan. 21 or 22 at the Boston Garden.

Handlers of the two battlers got together and agreed on the rematch yesterday, some 12 hours after Akins knocked out De Marco in the 14th round for the Massachusetts version of the world's welter title.

Four Golfers Hit 7-Under-Par 65s

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 30 (AP)—Four stalwarts of professional golf's touring circuit scorched the Mission Valley Country Club course with 7-under-par 65s in today's opening round of the San Diego Open.

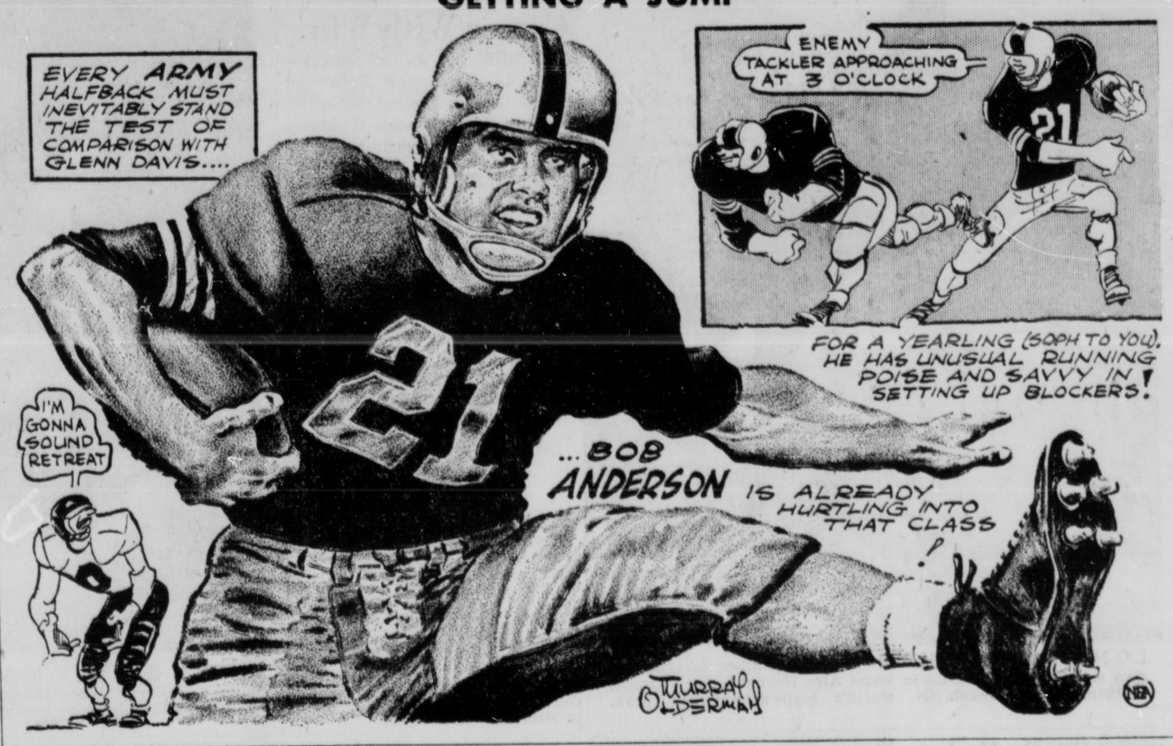

The first day leaders were Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., 34-31; Charles Sifford, Philadelphia, 32-32; Don Whitt, Alameda, Calif., 34-31; and Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, 31-34.

Bracketed at one stroke off the pace with 66s were Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., and Al Balding of Miami. Sixty four of the 137 starters cracked par.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Southpaw Kenny Lane, after a methodical 10-round victory over Orlando Zulueta, has a new distinction today.

The Muskegon, Mich., battler was awarded the No. 1 contender's spot in the junior welterweight division by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

This 140-pound class has been dormant since 1935, but Commission Chairman Frank Gilmer says: "We've revived it with the hope of stirring up a world championship at this weight."

Foxy Doc Kearns, Lane's manager, is all for the idea but he will have difficulty convincing the National Boxing Assn. to recognize the junior welterweight division.

Kearns is having a hard enough time getting his tiger a shot at the title of the legitimate lightweight bracket. Lane has been the NBA's No. 1 contender of this 135-pound class for about the last eight months.

Champion Wary

"We can't get champion Joe Brown to fight us," said Kearns. "I've had a $50,000 guarantee open for him for two years and it's still there for his taking. So what's wrong with my boy becoming the world junior welterweight champion?"

Lane won a unanimous decision over Zulueta in the nationally televised bout at Chicago Stadium last night to register his 16th straight triumph and a total of 49 against five defeats in his career.

He weighed 139 pounds, three more than his Cuban opponent.

There were no knockdowns and it was just a case of Lane wading in and spearing the speedy but ineffective-punching Zulueta.

Only Home Area Radio for Jints

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—New York City is not going to get to worry by radio about its lost Giants.

Horace Stoneham, president of the National League club that moved here from New York, said yesterday that broadcasts of home and road games would be carried next season only on an independent Northern California network.

Live broadcasts will not go East, he added, because of a Giant policy against interfering with local games. That leaves New York with only the Yankees to fret over.

WHAT DOES "CANTING" MEAN IN SHOOTING?

OUT OF DOORS with

Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

As we predicted several years back, the White River of Arkansas is now turning out trophies with monotonous regularity.

In a week, the river produced 542 rainbows, 34 weighing from seven to a shade less than 14 pounds. All were caught below the relatively new Bull Shoals Dam downstream to the town of Cotter.

There's no denying that the Ozark region, the reputation of which was built on the smallmouth bass, is going to outshine established creeks in the dry fly belt.

The Arkansas story doesn't end with improved trouting. Bull Shoals Lake has been growing an outsized bass population since its construction, and nobody has bothered to count the four to nine-pound bigmouths that are being bagged daily.

The Plastic Worm

Most boats checking at the public boat docks report limit catches, along with bluegills, crappies and walleyes.

The "hot" bait this season, and one well worth trying on your local pond is the new plastic worm. A good percentage of the bass and a large ration of Arkansas lunker trout fall to the dummy nightwalker. Yet our favorite black eel lure remains the top attractor on Bull Shoals.

If you contemplate a safari out that way the productive areas on the reservoir are Buck Creek, Howard Creek, Lakeview, Lead Hill, Tucker Hollow and Promise Land, as well as Bull Shoals.

Boats, resorts, groceries and all other conveniences are there.

Coast Leaguers At Crucial Stage

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Officials of the Pacific Coast and other minor leagues and other baseball figures began arriving today for a key meeting on the PCL's biggest problem — the invasion of California by the major leagues.

The PCL directors meet tomorrow on a number of questions born of the New York Giants' move to San Francisco and the Brooklyn Dodgers' shift to Los Angeles.

The question of damages to be paid to the PCL is right at the top of the list.

And so is the problem of new homes for the clubs that may be bumped by the majors' turn westward.

Scoring Drought

LEXINGTON, Ky. (NEA) — The recruit-dominated Kentucky football team managed to push across only one touchdown in the first half of a disappointing campaign against five straight Southeastern Conference powerhouses.

Name Case Commissioner Mid-Hudson District Ys

Richard (Dick) Case, physical director of the Kingston YMCA, has been named YMCA Basketball Commissioner for the Mid-Hudson valley. Case was designated for the post at a meeting of the Mid-Hudson Physical Directors Association yesterday at Newburgh.

Case will start his duties at once and keep other YMCAs in the area informed on basketball policy and regulations.

Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Middletown Ys were represented at the meeting. Other members of the association are Hudson Extension, Nyack, Port Jervis and Maybrook.

Raymond Williams, the YMCA state physical department head, was on hand from New York to organize the area directors.

Detroit Lion Owner Defends Leon Hart Against Charges

DETROIT (AP)—Reports that big Leon Hart has been giving less than his best efforts to the Detroit Lions brought club President Edwin J. Anderson to the fullback's defense yesterday.

In a telephone interview from Palm Springs, Calif., Anderson said the Lions' coaching staff is free to make any decision it wants to about the 6-5, 250-pound back.

He added, however, that when he talked with the coaches about Hart "they said they're going to go along with Leon and hope he can come through for us."

Some Lions coaches and players, who asked that their names not be used, had suggested earlier that Hart has been "dogging it." One veteran Lions linebacker commented: "Why should we knock ourselves out 12 games a season when this guy loafs around for all but two or three games a year and gets a lot of money?"

Expresses Surprise

Hart expressed surprise when told of the charges, adding "I've never given anything short of 100 per cent effort" for the Lions.

"I don't know what to say," Hart said in a telephone interview from Pasadena where the Lions are working out for their game with the San Francisco 49'ers. "As far as I'm concerned, this whole thing is hearsay and does not exist."

Hart, a veteran of eight seasons with the Lions, said he has always tried to play the game to the best of his ability. He said he had been hampered by a torn hamstring muscle. It was torn two days after the club's exhibition opener with Cleveland.

Anderson denied allegations by players that Hart has a "no-cut" contract.

Orange Tackles Return for Pitt

SYRACUSE (AP) — A pair of brawny tackles are again available for Syracuse's starting lineup in Saturday's game with Pitt at Pittsburgh.

Ron Luciano, who had been knocked out of action by a chest injury, and Roger Davis, who had been sidelined by a leg ailment, rejoined the squad for practice yesterday.

Another cheering note for the Orange was a report that Charles Wink, center on the alternate team, probably would recover by Saturday from an injury incurred in the Penn State game.

Clean Radiators Before Painting

Before painting a radiator, be sure to clean it thoroughly. To protect the floor while you are painting, slide stiff paper under it. Use a long-handled 1½-inch brush and paint the insides of the flutings first. Unless you detach the radiator, there'll be areas you'll have to skip.

To estimate the amount of paint you'll need for the surfaces of a radiator, measure the front area and multiply by seven. If, for example, your radiator is 3 feet high and 4 feet long, you multiply the 12 square feet by 7—or figure on the same amount of paint as is needed for 84 square feet.

Wise Planting Of Trees, Shrubs Improves Home

Unsightly views around the home can easily be changed into pleasing vistas with wise placing of trees and flowering shrubs. Often a shrub only four feet high will attract the eye to it to the exclusion of the unsightly area. A living fence or hedge may be desirable, or one can place shrubs or trees at intervals to focus attention on them, rather than the view to be cut off.

Here's a suggestion from the American Association of Nurserymen:

In turn, stand on all four sides of your home and look to north, south, east, or west, as the case may be. Then visualize in your mind the exact location for shrub or tree, noting the height that is most desirable to improve your view.

Place a stake in each location, then consult with your nurseryman as to the plants that best fit the purpose.

Officials Favor Use of Inactive Camps for Boys

WASHINGTON (AP)—High federal officials favor a proposal by the governors of New York and Pennsylvania to use inactive military bases as summer camps for teenage boys.

Govs. Harriman of New York and Leader of Pennsylvania outlined their plan yesterday at a meeting in the Pentagon with Secretary of Defense McElroy and others.

Sampson Mentioned

The only base that was mentioned at the conference was the Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y., which is in the process of being declared a surplus. It would be used as an experimental site for the summer camp project.

Harriman and Leader feel their plan could avert budding juvenile delinquency by giving needy boys a free vacation and training in good citizenship.

At the conclusion of the conference, McElroy told newsmen the proposal was "not impossible if carried out on a recapture, stand-by basis."

Marion Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, said the situation would have to be studied to determine if Sampson could be fitted into the department's program and used, at least in part, as a boy's camp.

Under the Harriman-Leader plan, camps would be maintained chiefly by the federal government. State and local governments would provide transportation, food and other expenses.

To study the matter further, McElroy named William Francis, assistant secretary of defense for manpower reserve, as Defense Department consultant. McElroy suggested that the governors name representatives to consult with Francis and other federal officials.

To Explore Sites

Harriman said all other possible military sites in the two states would be explored for use in the event that Sampson was not made available.

The governors said Sampson was vacant and had three units along Lake Seneca that could accommodate 5,000 campers.

Harriman said New York's target for the summer of 1958 would be a camp program for 2,000 boys at a time, with three-week sessions. For Pennsylvania, a comparable program would be set up for 1,500 boys at a time. The campers would be selected by their home communities, working with local school systems and private agencies.

Leader emphasized the value to the armed forces of early civic training of youth.

"A number of these young people will end up in the armed services," Leader said. "Educating them in good citizenship at an early age will avoid possible re-training of these youths when they are old enough for the armed services."

Also attending the conference were Sens. Irving M. Ives and Jacob K. Javits, New York Republicans, Budget Director Percival Brundage and G. Franklin Floete, general services administrator, and others.

End Training In Maryland

Two Kingston young men recently completed recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., according to an announcement received from Ray Boyle, the local Navy recruiter.

Richard Carpino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carpino, East Kingston, and Lorenzo Giannuzzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Giannuzzi of 162 Clinton Avenue, are spending a 14 day leave at the home of their parents before reporting to their new assignment.

R. Carpino

L. Giannuzzi

Seamen Carpino and Giannuzzi successfully completed the transition from civilian life to military life, which included instruction in seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, firefighting, military bearing, military drill, shipboard drill and citizenship. The Kingston bluejackets enlisted at the local recruiting station, Central Post Office, Kingston, New York.

Leprosy

Leprosy is largely a tropical and subtropical disease confined to the warmer parts of the world for the most part, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

A REAL PLANTER—Something new and efficient in the realm of mechanical warfare, the Army's mechanical mine planter is shown laying an anti-tank mine field at Fort Belvoir, Va. The mines are planted automatically at a predetermined rate. Only the tractor operator is required to do the job, thereby making possible a tremendous saving in man hours and labor compared to the old method of digging individual holes for each mine by hand. If any one tries to dig up the "seeds" planted by this monster, they are liable to get "planted" permanently.

HOME IS HIS RANGE—Calves are usually at home on the range, but not so for this critter whose favorite range is in the kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bunte, of Balwin, Ill., adopted "Torro," now three months old, when its mother died shortly after giving birth. Mrs. Bunte bottle fed Torro for a few days and kept him alive. Now the friendly calf is one of the family and has the run of the house.

Says Syria Is Ready To Compromise Now

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeineddine said today his country is ready to consider a possible compromise to end the U. N. split over the Middle East problem.

He said, however, that he believed it would be hard to find a plan which would satisfy the two rival groups. One is pressing for a fact-finding commission to go to the Syrian-Turkish border. The other proposes that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold be asked to work out a solution.

Zeineddine talked to reporters just before going into conference with Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, president of the 82-nation General Assembly. The Assembly is in recess until tomorrow morning to permit compromise efforts.
